If CBD Gets Special Zoning Designation, Higher Taxes Will Pay for More Services

Turning the central business district into a special assessment zone moved one step closer to reality with the enthusiastic suggestion of Borough Councilman Irv Urken that a consultant be hired to draft the appropriate ordinance.

The ordinance would create a set-apart zone in the borough in which property owners would be assessed extra taxes. These revenues would be used only within the designated zone for such items as promotion, advertising, parking, special events, or the placement of directional signs.

The tax money could also be used to hire an administrator. He or she would function in the same manner as the manager of a shopping center or mall; developing promotions, coordinating advertising or setting up special events.

Although the central business district was spotlighted as the first such zone, merchants on the east end of Nassau Street were said to have expressed interest in the idea.

Another use to which the extra tax revenues could be put would be the hiring of uniformed security personnel. Store owners in the CBD recently petitioned Borough Council to provide extra police protection. The petition came in the wake of several armed robberies over the past few months.

While the cost of operating the district in Princeton has not yet been determined, a fact sheet prepared by The Atlantic Group of Cranbury — the consultant suggested

Township's Assessment on Jasna Polana Upheld by Judge Lasser; Appeal Possible

Township officials were jubilant last week at learning that what has been described as the longest running tax appeal on what may be the largest single residential property in the country has been decided in favor of Princeton Township. The property is Jasna Polana, the 32,000-square-foot mansion built in the mid-1970s by the late J. Seward Johnson and his wife, Barbara Piasecka Johnson, at a cost reported to be well in excess of $20 million. The Johnsons have appealed the Township's assessment of the property each year from 1975 to 1984.

Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer was not at liberty this week to divulge the contents of the 45-page opinion handed down by Superior Court Judge Lawrence J. Lasser because of a protective order placed on the opinion by the judge at the request of Garret M. Heher, attorney for the plaintiffs. And Mr.

Schmierer also cautions that Mr. Heher has 45 days in which to appeal the decision on behalf of his client.

Nonetheless he could say that the final page of the opinion instructs the tax court clerk to dismiss all tax appeals, thus upholding and sustaining the original assessments by the Township for the years 1975-1984. He could also praise his colleague at Mason Griffin & Pierson, George W. Fisher Jr., who defended the Township all during the trial last winter and spring in the tax court in Trenton.

Other municipal officials feel the decision is sweet victory for Stuart Robson Sr., who made the original assessments. For the year 1984, the township assessed Jasna Polana at $8,120,600 for the land and buildings. The Johnsons sought a reduction of 54 percent to $3.8 million.

Mr. Schmierer says they paid roughly $198,000 in taxes, exclusive of farmland assessment payments, for 1984. If they had succeeded in obtaining a reduction, the Township would have had to refund $100,000 to $105,000 for 1984 alone. A similar result for each of the preceding nine years would have meant a refund in excess of $1 million, plus interest, Mr. Schmierer calculates.

The cost to the Township in legal fees, including hiring of experts, is approximately $100,000 over the years, he thinks. As of TOWN TOPICS' Tuesday deadline, Mr. Heher had not indicated whether or not to appeal the decision, nor whether to permit a lifting of the protective order placed for security reasons on the pre-opinion.

Princeton Surgeon Killed in Plane Crash

A plane crash last Thursday claimed the life of Princeton resident Dudley F. Hawkes, M.D., 10 days before his 50th birthday. The private plane, which he was piloting, crashed shortly after take-off.

Dr. Hawkes, a highly-respected orthopaedic surgeon and president of the medical and dental staff at Princeton Medical Center, was en route to Hamilton College, Clinton, N.Y., where he was scheduled to speak at Parents' Day weekend. The crash occurred in fog and rain about a mile from the Trenton-Robbinsville airport where he had rented the four-passenger single engine plane. He was the sole occupant of the plane.

Dr. Hawkes was known to friends and colleagues for his love of outdoor activities, particularly sailing and flying, and for the intrepid, adventure-some spirit with which he engaged in these activities.

He was also known to those who were pilots, and who had flown with him, as a cautious, careful pilot who prepared as meticulously for a flight as he prepared for surgery.

Rescue Squad's Existence May Be Threatened By Implementation of Fuld Lifemobile Program

Mayor Pike and members of Township Committee listened intently this past Monday night as representatives of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, Helene Fuld Medical Center, and Princeton Medical Center discussed the $340 charge that residents of Princeton can shortly expect each time they use the services of a Lifemobile.

A countywide Mobile Intensive Care Unit (MICU) program run by Helene Fuld in Trenton is scheduled to begin operating lifemobile service throughout the entire county as soon as staff is hired and rigs are purchased. It is this program that will assess the charge for lifemobile service.

The program will begin in stages. "It will start in Princeton within the next several weeks," said Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad President Mark Freda.

While admitting that the state-mandated Fuld program will add additional lifemobile service to Princeton, Mr. Freda said that the charge — which may go as high as $352 — is a definite disadvantage.

He asked Township Committee to continue its joint funding with the Borough of the rescue squad's daytime program.

"This is a very needed program. There is a lack of volunteers during the day and the paid crew is vital to the community. Without the municipalities' contribution [$53,000 this year], the day crew could not operate."

Mr. Freda expressed concern that contributions to the rescue squad will be affected by the county's taking over of lifemobile service.

"Within 16 hours after our fund-raising letter went out, I received two or three calls asking why people should donate money if they can expect a charge."

He said that lifemobile calls account for only 40 percent of the Princeton First Aid Squad's calls. In addition, the squad will have to send out a rig to meet the Fuld rig each time the lifemobile goes out. Fuld's lifemobile is not an ambulance.

But even if the Princeton rig were to handle the lifemobile call with its own paramedics, and transport the patient to the hospital, the patient would still have to pay the $340 Fuld fee.

Lifemobile

The charge — when it comes — will actually come from the Princeton Medical Center. PMC must then turn the money it receives over to Helene Fuld. The Princeton First Aid and Rescue never has and, says Mr. Freda, never will, charge for any of its services.

Too Many Gaps. Dr. Barry Ultan, director of the Helene Fuld MICU program and chief of cardiology at the hospital, said that the program was implemented because there were too many gaps in volunteer programs throughout the state.

He said that the federal government has stated that lifemobile is to be considered pre-hospital critical care and it must be a paid service.

The state therefore requires hospitals to bill, said Dr. Ultan. "We want uniform, well-coordinated service. If cheaper services existed, people might call them, even if they were further away. This might be very harmful."

During the presentations, various comments came from the dais.

"It's inconceivable to charge the patient and take the money elsewhere," said Committeeman William Cherry. "I have serious doubts about the equity of what is happening," said Committeeman Thomas Poole. To which Mayor Pike added, "I agree. It's ridiculous."

At Mr. Freda's urging, Dennis Doody, president of the Princeton Medical Center, rose to speak. His voice was tinged with sadness and frustration as he said the state had modeled its lifemobile program after ours, "and when they couldn't get volunteers, they began hiring our people."

Longtime volunteer Ed Obert agreed, saying, "Our program was very good until the state program started weaning our staff away."

State 'Doesn't Understand.' Mr. Doody said that the state doesn't understand the suburban issue and the relations with the community and squad. "This is not where we want to be; we're hoping for an alternative way." He added that he was receiving no cooperation from officials of Helene Fuld.

He noted that the medical center has not yet signed any agreement to bill for lifemobile charges, and has not even been notified of the amount of the charge.

The following morning, reached at his office, Mr. Doody said, "We may be looking at the demise of the volunteer system." He added that the medical center must bill and cannot disobey the state. "But if Helene Fuld wants to operate this program in those municipalities where I have to go to the planning board and the municipal bodies without involving Princeton Medical Center, it won't work."

"Before they get started, we'll make an all-out effort to see what we can work out."

"The volunteer squads have done a heck of a job," said Mr. Doody. "I have not seen any incidents where volunteers have not done a great job and saved lives. If Helene Fuld participates alongside our ambulance, ours is out of business. It's an emotional issue for us

APPEAL IS FILED

By Shopping Center. Princeton Shopping Center has filed an appeal of its tax assessment with the New Jersey Tax Court, seeking a reduction of an undisclosed amount.

The Shopping Center is presently undergoing renovation at the hands of new owners George Comfort & Sons. The representative of the firm most knowledgeable about the appeal was not available for comment at press time Tuesday afternoon.

At its meeting Monday night, Township Committee voted to retain the services of Joseph H. Martin, expert appraiser, in defense of the assessment at a fee not to exceed $30,000. According to Township tax records, the Shopping Center is comprised of two lots. The larger, presumably the lot on which the Center is actually located, is currently assessed at $1,647,800 for the land and $4,484,200 for the building, for a total of $6.1 million.

The smaller lot is assessed at $22,200 for the land and $31,400 for building, for a total of $44,600.

MORE HEARINGS SET
 For Peterson Building. The Hopewell Township Zoning Board has scheduled three additional dates on which to hear testimony for and against the controversial Peterson building.

S.T. Peterson, contractor and developer, seeks a variance request to permit construction of a 165,000-square-foot office building at the corner of Elm Ridge Road and Carter Road. Having been turned down in 1982 by the Zoning Board, the developer is back again after winning an appeal in court. The variance request is opposed by neighbors and by Lawrence Township, whose boundary crosses the property.

At the hearing last Thursday night, William Sutphin, attorney for Peterson, finished presenting testimony of traffic and planning experts in support of the variance. Dates were set for Joseph Stonaker, representing Lawrence Township, and James Britt, attorney for Elm Ridge and Carter Road residents, to bring on their experts. Zoning Board chair Wilfred Skillman scheduled additional public hearings on Monday, October 28, at the Timberlane School; Tuesday, October 29, at the Hopewell Municipal Building; and Monday, November 18, again at Timberlane School.

Hearings begin at 7 p.m. Mr. Britt and Mr. Stonaker have scheduled a traffic expert, land values expert and professional planner and may schedule additional experts. Tuesday, October 29, was identified as the time when residents and other interested parties may make statements or bring on their own experts in support of their views on granting the variance. Thus far the public has been limited to asking questions of witnesses and enjoined from making statements Improvements Cited. Traffic testimony from Robert M. Rodgers of a Philadelphia traffic engineering and planning firm centered on the improvements to Elm Ridge Road and the Elm Ridge-Carter Road intersection that the developer is willing to fund 100 percent. It was Mr. Rodgers view, based in part on traffic studies conducted by Educational Testing Service as preparation for its proposed expansion, that traffic was already bad and the improvements would make it better — at least through that particular intersection.

"It's quite obvious that there are existing problems today. The problems will get worse, but the need for improvements are not triggered by the S.T. Peterson application," Mr. Rodgers contended. He also suggested that a regional traffic study should be undertaken and fair share cost allocation programs implemented

Lewis Edge of the Zoning Board asked, "Are you suggesting that the way to get our roads improved is to go out and get a developer?" S. Hamer Fleming, another member, remarked that if ETS and Peterson are willing to fund 100 percent of traffic improvements at particular intersections, "they must be expecting a lot of traffic — the biggest log jam in the world at Carter and Elm Ridge."

From the audience, Dudley Woodbridge asked, "What are you going to do about the poor people along Carter Road who can't get out of their driveways now?"

Mr. Rodgers was followed by Harvey Moskowitz, a professional planner who was a consultant to Lawrence Township during the Squibb application in the mid-60s. Mr. Moskowitz' testimony and all his floor-area ratio calculations were based on a consideration of the entire 85-acre tract rather than just the Hopewell portion of 39.8 acres on which the developer plans to locate the building and the parking lot.

The lot is zoned residential but office buildings are a conditional use given a 100-acre minimum lot size and a single tenant and owner. Mr. Moskowitz said that the proposed office development was in keeping with the low intensity use of the land intended by the ordinance and would have less impact than the 38 single family residences that could be built on the tract.

Zoning member Bradley Brewster asked what effect the Peterson building, providing employment to some 660 persons, would have on Hopewell Township's recently enacted Mt. Laurel compliance. Mr. Suzanne Patterson, wife of Moskowitz admitted he did not know.

Another line of questioning was directed at the open space of the lot — whether or not that could be dedicated to Hopewell to keep it "safe" from future development by S.T. Peterson. Mr. Stonaker pointed out that the Hopewell Zoning Board had no authority over land that is not within its boundaries.

ONE STEP CLOSER

To New Senior Center. A proposal for the joint operation of the Suzanne Patterson Center has been prepared by the Borough and submitted to Township Committee. The concept has been given general approval by the Township, and representatives of the two municipalities will meet over the next few weeks to iron out details.

The new senior center will be located behind Borough Hall in the now almost completely renovated gym. Its fellow tenant is the Princeton Art Association.

The center, named for Mr. Suzanne Patterson, wife of former mayor Henry Patterson, is expected to open for limited use within the next several weeks. Eventually, it will serve all area senior citizens.

According to the Borough proposal, the costs of the center will be shared with the Township on a 50-50 matching basis. The two municipalities will jointly employ a director on or about November 1, who will be hired for at least 30 hours per week. His or her annual salary is not to exceed $16,500.

Also, start-up and first-year costs are stated to be within the $7,500 each governing body has budgeted for 1985. And the overall cost to the two municipalities in 1986 is not to exceed $12,000 each.

Mayor Sigmund said that she would like the dedication of the building to take place in December.

NEW BUS SERVICE

Discussed at Meeting. The new provider of "loop" bus service in Princeton appeared before Township Committee in a meeting scheduled to allow residents the opportunity to express their feelings about the service.

Barry Coleman, general manager of Princeton Area Transport (PAT) stated that it would be incorrect to say his company has taken over the loop bus from New Jersey Transit, which hailed out of the money-losing operation in September.

He said PAT's routing and scheduling were quite different and that it was the objective of his company to service those areas not serviced before.

Among these areas are Shady Brook, Snowden, and Elm Court, the recently completed senior housing complex on Elm Road.

Although stating that ridership has been "great," Mr. Coleman said that his year-old company will discontinue its version of the loop if it runs at a loss.

"We feel it should equalize in six months. If ridership doesn't increase, we'll cancel."

Mr. Coleman, noting that his company receives no subsidy for providing the Princeton service, said he was looking into Title 18 funding to see if any monies were available. He added ed that it is usual for some subsidy to be left behind when a carrier abandons a route, but that there was none when New Jersey Transit ceased operating the loop.

Committeeman William Cherry offered to have Township Committee contact New Jersey Transit to see why no subsidy was left.

Several residents of Valley Road spoke against having the PAT buses travel along their street. They suggested Terhune Road as an alternative.

At Mayor Pike's request, Mr. Coleman will appear at a later meeting of Township Committee with maps showing both the previous New Jersey Transit loop route and the PAT route.

MAYOR TESTIFIES

For Bridge Funds. Township Mayor Winthrop Pike testified this week before the state Assembly's transportation committee in support of legislation allocating $1 million for the rebuilding of the Harrison Street Bridge.

Over Mercer County Executive Bill Mathesius' objections, the committee voted 3-2 to send the measure to the full Assembly. If the Legislature approves, the $1 million would be the state's share of the estimated $3.5 million cost for replacing the 80-year-old structure. The County Executive ordered the bridge closed in July for safety reasons. He contends that the bill, sponsored by Assemblyman John S. Watson, D-Ewing, is an election year ploy and is not needed to finance the bridge repairs.

The bridge has become a political football between Mr. Mathesius, a Republican, and the Democratic freeholders. The freeholders have accused

Free Eye Screenings Scheduled

Princeton Medical Center will take part in the 29th consecutive Eye Health Screening Program, being presented across the state during the week of October 14 in a continuing effort to protect New Jerseyans from eye disease.

Gov. Kean has issued a formal proclamation declaring the week of October 14 "Eye Health Week" and urges all citizens to take advantage of this free eye health screening program at the centers in their area. The screening at the Princeton Hospital Unit will take place on Tuesday from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

The screenings are open and free to all persons over 35 who are not already receiving ophthalmological care. They are performed by an ophthalmologist (a licensed medical doctor specializing in eye care).

Prescriptions for eyeglasses and contact lenses will not be included.

However, citizens are urged to take this opportunity to protect themselves against previously undetected eye disease, such as glaucoma and cataracts, which could cause blindness.

the county executive of withholding information about the condition of the bridge and his reasons for ordering it closed.

Mayor Pike, who is also a Republican, has also been critical of the county executive for ordering the closing without proposing and agreeing to fund an alternative solution for traffic using the bridge. Mr. Pike feels that it is important to have funds set aside as the state's share of the rebuilding. Federal specific funds are expected to cover the major portion, but some officials are concerned that the state's bridge fund may not be adequate to cover all the necessary repairs throughout the state.

RESIDENT NOMINATED

For Judgeship, Robert E. Cowen, 55, of Philip Drive, has been nominated by President Ronald Reagan for a federal judgeship.

Mr. Cowen received a telephone call from the President last week asking him if he would accept a nomination to one of the three vacancies on the New Jersey federal bench. If confirmed by the Senate he expects to be assigned to the U.S. District Court in Trenton.

Mr. Cowen is presently serving as the federal magistrate in Newark, hearing civil cases and criminal misdemeanors. He is understood to have been seeking a federal judgeship for several years. Federal judges are paid $78,000 a year.

A graduate of Rutgers University Law School, Mr. Cowen spent 12 years as a lawyer in private practice. He also served as an assistant Essex County prosecutor and deputy attorney general. He was director of the Division of Ethics for the state Supreme Court before being named a federal magistrate.

APPROVALS GRANTED

By Planning Board, Hun School was granted Planning Board approval last week for a 39,000 square foot science wing addition to its upper school classroom building.

The Planning Board also granted certain variances requested by a Ridgeview Road resident seeking to build a home on one of two landlocked lots while at the same time attempting to cause the least disturbance to the ridge environment. A change in the proposed location of a driveway to service the two lots in order not to traverse an area of poor drainage forced a redrawing of lot lines, and that in turn made the variance requests necessary.

In granting Garrett B. Dreier of 133 Ridgeview Circle the variances he needed, the Planning Board congratulated him for finding "environmentally sensitive solutions" to his land use problems. Mr. Dreier said he wanted to build a new house for himself on one of the two interior lots he had recently purchased but he had no intention at the time of developing the other.

Fair Share? The Hun School application got hung up for a time on the issue of whether or not the school should be assessed a share of the cost of improvements to Edgerstone Road. It was noted that the Russell Estates were assessed a proportion at the time of final approval. The proportion was based on the number of proposed homes that would have direct access on the road, which Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser describes as being "intensely distressed."

Mr. Kiser estimated the cost of repaving the section of Edgerstone Road, from Route 206 to the entrance of the Russell Estates on the right and the school administration building on the left, at from $180,000-$200,000. Hun School sought a waiver from paying part of this cost on the grounds that the proposed science wing would not be adding traffic, inasmuch as no increase in student or faculty population was proposed.

Some of the discussion centered around whether the Township could assess all the abutting property owners, school and residences alike, when it gets around to making the improvements. Mr. Kiser said that to his knowledge there had never been a general assessment in the township for a "blacktop travel way."

Vice Chair Margen Penick made a motion to approve the application and require the school to pay a fair share, but her motion was overruled, 8-2. Another motion to approve without requiring the fair share was voted by the same 8-2 margin.

Planning Board Attorney Allen Porter reported on the outcome of a court case involving the Board's denial of a directory sign to two doctors occupying space in the old Princeton Bank building on Route 206. Superior Court Judge Paul Levy ruled that the board had not acted within the 95 day time limit and had not been granted a time extension by the applicant. Thus he said the doctors should be granted the sign variance they requested.

But he chided the board for not following procedure because he too felt such signs were not in the best interests of the Township.

STUDENT IS ROBBED

By Armed Gunman, A Princeton University junior was robbed of $38 by an armed gunman early Thursday morning while he and his roommate were returning from the Wawa Market to their dorm room in Pyne Hall.

According to Borough police, as the victim, Peter Weiland and his companion, Bill Ho, were walking at 12:30 on University Place near Spelman Hall, Weiland heard someone approaching from behind. He turned and Ho continued on.

A white male in his 20s confronted Weiland and asked him if he knew where he could get a joint.

When Weiland joked, "Only if you've got some friends," the suspect, who, police said, had a black powdery substance on his face, asked the same question again and then, without warning, grabbed Weiland by his sweat shirt, yanked him close and poked a gun against his stomach.

When the gunman then asked Weiland what he had, he produced his wallet and took out the cash. The suspect grabbed the money, police said, and fled.

Meanwhile, Ho, police said, had overheard part of the conversation and ran to his room to call the university proctors. Chief Michael Carnevale reported that the area was soon saturated with Borough and Township police and university security but an intensive search to uncover the suspect was unsuccessful.

The suspect is further described as about 5-9, 150 pounds, wearing a ski cap, dark jacket and dark trousers.

HOUSE FIRE CLAIMS 3

Were Victims Murdered? A Middlesex County Prosecutor said this week that a triple murder is suspected in the case of two adults and a child, whose charred bodies were found in the aftermath of a fire in a split-level home off Route 27 in the Kingston section of South Brunswick Township.

Prosecutor Alan Rockoff said that there are indications that the victims died from external causes and not from the fire, but he declined to elaborate, and refused to comment on whether police had determined a motive.

Two of the bodies, a male and a child, were found in a rear bedroom; the third was near the foot of a staircase leading to the upstairs.

The bodies were discovered by police and firemen who had responded to a call at 8:05 Monday morning from a passing motorist who had noticed smoke coming out a second-floor bedroom window.

"At first, according to Mr. Rockoff, the third body appeared to be that of a woman; a closer examination revealed that it was a man in the process of a sex change.

An autopsy was performed on one of the bodies Monday afternoon by Middlesex County Medical Examiner, Dr. Marvin Shuster. Two more were scheduled for the following day.

Because the victims were so badly charred, an attempt is being made to identify them through dental and medical records.

While no positive identification has been made yet, the house is owned by James Chappelle, and authorities conducting the investigation believe he may be one of the victims.

A report in the Trenton Times said that Trenton Police have issued an alert for a tan 1980 Plymouth, registered to a Geraldo Castillo who has a rural route Princeton address.

Mr. Castillo is the owner of a business on Perry Street in Trenton which sells magic and worship items. The report adds that Castillo had changed his first name to Jessica and is the legal guardian of an adopted six-year-old girl.

The house which was the scene of the tragedy is located next to the Kingston Rescue Squad building on Route 27, a short distance away from the Shop-Rite shopping center.

Traffic coming south from the Kendall Park area was diverted by police and forced to find alternate routes into Princeton.

GET YOUR TICKETS!

But Not at the Kiosk. Donna and Paul Bevansee, who lease the Palmer Square kiosk from Collins Development, were prepared to begin selling Suburban Transit bus tickets the first thing this past Monday morning.

The computer was supposed to have been delivered Sunday night at 7, and several area newspapers had announced that bus riders would now be able to purchase their New York tickets at the kiosk.

The Suburban Transit terminal, which occupied the corner of Witherspoon and Nassau Streets, had vacated the premises when the new owner of Lower Pyne, Commonwealth Realty, said that it must: October 6. Barring the leasing of another terminal in town, the kiosk had seemed a logical choice for ticket sales.

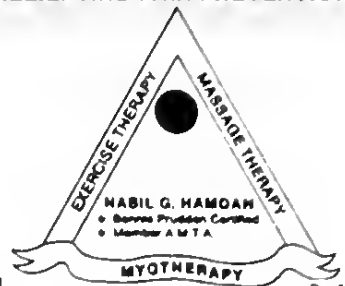

At any rate, it seemed that way to the Bevansees and Suburban Transit. Collins Development, which owns Palmer Square, didn't quite see things the same way. It stopped the proposed sale until further notice.

"We told Mayor Sigmund that we had reservations about the idea when it was suggested to us," said Palmer Square Marketing Director Claudette de Clairville.

She cited the fact that the square was already a bus stop for New Jersey Transit and asked where the additional bus riders would wait.

Other questions raised by Collins — which notified the Bevansees late on Friday that they could not sell the bus tickets — focused on the litter that might be caused by the extra people drawn to the square and the lack of restroom facilities.

The Bevansees' lease with Collins spells out those items they may be allowed to sell at the kiosk. In return for adding such items as sodas and snack food, they recently agreed to get rid of the lottery machines they had been operating.

Ms. de Clairville said she wants to check with other tenants of Palmer Square before giving permission to sell bus tickets at the kiosk. She added that the kiosk was Palmer Square's front door and that how it looks was very important.

Mrs. Bevansee characterized the events of the last few days as a "fiasco." "Our employees have to keep telling people they don't have tickets."

Ms. de Clairville said that representatives of Collins and Suburban Transit will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Bevansee and Mayor Sigmund on Thursday (October 10) to resume negotiations.

RULING UPHOLD

Students Must Stay. State Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman has upheld a judicial ruling prohibiting the Cranbury Board of Education from transferring its students from Lawrence High School to Princeton High School. The Cranbury Board expects to appeal the decision to the state Board of Education.

Commissioner Cooperman ruled that the loss of about a half million dollars in tuition payments would have a negative financial impact on the Lawrence schools.

Cranbury has 45 days from the decision to appeal to the state board. It may then appeal the board's ruling to the Appellate Division of Superior Court.

Some 90 students in grades 9 through 12 are involved.

Cranbury has been attempting to pull its students out of Lawrence and move them into Princeton since 1981. The town does not have its own high school.

It had argued that Princeton would offer better academic and extracurricular activities and would provide a four-year high school instead of the grades 10-12 offered in Lawrence. Cranbury students must spend their first year in the new district in the ninth grade of Lawrence Junior High School.

3 STORES ARE VICTIM

Of Shoplifting Spree. Three stores on Palmer Square, two of them new, were the victims of shoplifters last week.

A $147 sweat suit was taken from the Village Collection, jackets and hats worth $478 from Mooshka and $318 in boys' and children's clothing from Wit & Whimsy. Three persons were apprehended as a result of the thefts and two have been charged.

They are Sandra Dublin, 37, of Trenton, issued a complaint summons charging her with possession of stolen property, and a 17-year-old Ewing youth, who was released to his parents and will be processed by juvenile authorities. An 18-year-old female companion of Miss Dublin from Trenton was not charged.

Police were called by an employee of the Village Collection at 5 p.m. Thursday reporting the shoplifting of the sweat suit. Sgt. Ronald Holiday was given the description of three suspects, which was broadcast to police units in the area.

Fifteen minutes later, Mooshka called to report it had been victimized by shoplifters and gave the same description of the suspects — two black females and a black male.

Pt. Dennis McManimon, on traffic duty at Nassau and University Place, observed two women who fit the description of the suspects and followed them back to Palmer Square. He was joined by Det. William Fitch and Sgt. Ronald Holiday. Together, they confronted the two suspects and advised them of their rights. The two suspects were later joined by the juvenile suspect.

The police investigation revealed that the juvenile had shoplifted a $132 coat, which police recovered in a refuse container in the Palmer Square garage, from Mooshka.

In checking Dublin's car in the garage, police observed in plain view a man's jacket, raccoon hat and three berets which had been taken from the same store. Also found in the car were the clothing articles taken from Wit & Whimsy.

TWO COMPUTERS STOLEN

From Office Building. Two IBM computers and two color monitors with a combined value of $9,500 were stolen overnight last week from the office of ALK Associates, Inc. located in the 1000 Herrontown office building.

Township police report that a large rock had been thrown through a window on the north-west corner of the building to gain entry to the office. Blood stains were found in both areas where the computers had been taken, suggesting, police said, that the thief or thieves may have cut themselves on the broken glass. A sneaker print was also found on a manilla envelope on the floor.

Police were called at 8:25 Friday morning by an employee who discovered the theft after opening the office.

Two construction storage trailers in the Hulfish Street lot connected with the Nassau Inn addition have been broken into and robbed.

A lock on a rear door was forced to enter the trailer owned by the Fromkin Brothers of South Plainfield and taken, Borough police said, were a paint gun and an air compressor worth $2,500.

Eight brass doorknobs valued at $100 each were removed from a trailer owned by the Lewis C. Bowers firm on Alexander Street. That trailer had also been forced open, police said.

THEFT REPORT

Wallet Taken From Office. A purse left unattended last week in an office in Green Hall on the Princeton University campus yielded a wallet to a thief.

Police report the wallet contained a gold band with diamond chips valued at $500 and $13.50. The victim is a university employee.

A $50 jacket and a briefcase valued at $75 were stolen last week from the unlocked car of a Pennington resident while it was parked on Witherspoon Street near the public library.

A $295 radar detector was removed from the 1984 Honda of a Princeton resident while it was parked from 9 to 5:10 p.m. in the Palmer Square garage. Entry was gained by breaking the left front door window.

The 1968 Mercury of a Princeton resident was stolen between 5-6 p.m. last week from a lot on Olden Street. The victim told police "it may have been locked."

A video cassette recorder valued at $348 has been stolen from the Princeton School for Exceptional Children located in the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. The rear of a metal cabinet was forced open to reach the VCR which was taken sometime during a five-day period.

In one of two bicycle thefts reported by Borough police, a $550 Univega model was stolen Monday from the "Dinky" station area on University Place, where its Princeton owner had secured it to a post with a cable lock.

Another bike, valued at $216 and owned by a Princeton High School student, was taken the same day between 8:30 and 2:30 from the Walnut Lane area behind the high school.

A silver and black Schwinn Predator was stolen last week from a bike rack at the John Witherspoon School, Township police report the $150 bike, owned by a Red Oak Row resident, was not locked.

DRIVER AVOIDS INJURY

When Car Overturns. A 19-year-old Trenton resident, Barbara A. Bennett, escaped injury Saturday morning when her small car skidded on Cherry Valley Road and overturned.

According to the investigation by Ptl. Renn Kaminski, Miss Bennett's car skidded as it came out of a curve a half-mile from Province Line Road. It continued sideways across the roadway, ran off the road, struck a tree and overturned. The officer said the surface was slick due to rain and fallen leaves and termed the driving conditions as hazardous. Miss Bennett's 1977 Rabbit had to be towed from the scene.

TWO ARE CHARGED

After Maclean Disturbance. Two men were charged after Borough police responded to a 12:46 call Sunday morning reporting a disturbance in a Maclean Street lot.

When Patrolmen Michael Taylor and Dennis McManimon arrived they found four persons in the lot. One, later identified as Lenwood Thomas Jr., 27, of John Street, was incoherent and unable to maintain his balance. He was arrested for being under the influence of a drug and for possession of a controlled dangerous substance which police have sent to a lab for analysis. "We have a good idea what it is," commented Chief Michael Carnevale, but he declined to identify it.

Thomas was first taken to Princeton Medical Center and later transferred to the detoxification center at Helene Fuld Hospital in Trenton. He faces an October 16 hearing in Borough court.

While at the scene, the two officers observed one of the other suspects suddenly lunge and punch another person in the face.

Identified later as Robin Everett, 29, of Forrestal Apartments, Plainsboro, he was handcuffed and arrested for assault.

Everett, police said, appeared to be under the influence of alcohol. Like Thomas, he has an October 16 court date. There were no charges against the other two at the scene.

DRIVER LOSES LICENSE

For Drunken Driving. In Borough traffic court Monday, Donald Craig, 173 Witherspoon Street, had his license revoked for six months and was fined $215 plus a $100 surcharge for driving while intoxicated.

Three were fined for speeding: Roland Smith, 38 Pardee Circle, and Edward Balas, 9 Shadowstone Road, Lawrence Township, both $60, and Timothy Kennedy, 31 Edwards Place, $65.

Others: Mansour Shayegan, 61 S. Stanworth Drive, $60, red light; Thomas P. O'Connell, 55 Penn Lyle Road, Princeton Junction, $60, improper driving in marked lanes; Carole Krauthamer, 61 Broadmead, obstructing passage of other vehicles, and William E. Schwalenberg, Jr., 45 Camden Road, Belle Mead, $20, improper display of plates.

In Borough criminal court last week, Michael T. Richards, whose last known address was 13 Fieldston Road, was fined $50 each on four charges of trespassing. Michael D. Boccanfoso, 150 Snowden Lane, was fined $90 each on charges of trespassing and harassment.

Carlos Lopez-Escobar, 17 Red Oak Row, paid $75 each on charges of harassment and assault.

Township Court. In a special session of Township court Thursday, Mark D. Tkacs, 252 Harrison Street, was fined a total of $900 by Judge Sydney Souter on three charges of possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana, possession of narcotic paraphernalia and possession of syringe needles.

George Tkacs, same address, was fined $300 for possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana. Two other drug charges were dismissed.

Charges of possession of marijuana and narcotic paraphernalia against Jeffrey Tkacs, same address, were dismissed.

All charges stemmed from an incident in October, 1984 at Grover Park.

Judge Souter also placed a restriction on all three defendants, prohibiting them from using Grover Park for a year.

In a regular session of Township court two days earlier, Michael P. Breen, 364 Franklin Avenue, was fined $125 and assessed $25 for the Violent Crime Compensation Board on a bad check charge. He was also ordered to make restitution of $24.30 to Claridge Wine & Liquor in the Princeton Shopping Center.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

By Watershed Ass'n. The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association has appointed Todd A. Bryan executive director. Mr. Bryan, 34, succeeds James Gaffney who has resigned to take a position in environmental affairs at the government level.

Mr. Bryan was selected from among some 60 applicants for the position. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Kentucky and earned masters degrees from the University of Wisconsin at Madison in both landscape architecture and water resources management. He has also obtained a master of public administration degree from the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard.

Mr. Bryan's experience includes establishing the Rhode Island Natural Heritage Program for the Nature Conservancy. He spent two years taking inventory and cataloging endangered species and critical habitat data for land preservation and management. He also worked on fund raising with other Nature Conservancy experts.

In 1980 he became chief of the Fresh Water Wetlands Regulatory Program of the Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management (DEM). With staff he reviewed major proposals for public and private development that affected freshwater wetlands and flood plains.

In 1983 Mr. Bryan was promoted to principal natural resources specialist and coordinator of land preservation programs for the Rhode Island DEM, and served until beginning his studies at Harvard in 1984. In this post he coordinated long-range planning and studies for preservation of rivers, wetlands, farmland and unique natural areas through non-regulatory means, including coordination with federal agencies and negotiations with private land owners.

Mr. Bryan has also served as a volunteer in environmental organizations, coordinated conferences and published articles at both technical and general levels. He acted as principal research assistant on a study of the recreation impacts of the "National Scenic River" designation of the lower St. Croix River, among other activities.

He is a marathon swimmer, ranked fourth in the United States and 11th in the world by the World Professional Marathon Swimming Federation. His swims have included races around Atlantic City and Manhattan Island.

WALLENBERG TRIBUTE

At State Museum. "A Tribute to Raoul Wallenberg: Swedish Diplomat/Missing Hero of the Holocaust," an exhibition depicting the life and work of Wallenberg, is on exhibit in the auditorium of the New Jersey State Museum through December 1.

Two dozen large framed panels in the exhibit chronicle Wallenberg's life from his youth in Sweden, his college years at the University of Michigan, his life experiences before 1944, and the six months he spent in Budapest, Hungary, from July 9, 1944 to January 17, 1945. Wallenberg is credited with saving the lives of 100,000 Jews in Hungary during those six months. The panels report on his detention and illegal imprisonment by the Soviet Union beginning 40 years ago.

His story was largely unknown in the United States until recent years when Soviet dissidents or released prisoners mentioned having seen or heard about an aging Swedish diplomat in prison. Conflicting reports on his sudden death in 1947 and reports of prisoners who saw Wallenberg as late as 1975 led to renewed efforts to learn of his whereabouts and secure his release.

Wallenberg was from a highly affluent, socially prominent Swedish family. While working in South Africa he met many young Jews who had already been forced to flee from Nazi persecution in Germany. In 1944 he volunteered to go to Hungary to head a special department set up under the auspices of the Swedish embassy and working in conjunction with the War Refugee Board.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Raoul Wallenberg Committee of the United States, was first displayed at the New York Public Library and later in the American Swedish Institute in Minneapolis.

PROGRAMS TO AIR

Made at Library. The Public Library will broadcast three television programs produced in cooperation with Home Link's public access program.

The first, "Book Previews 1985," stars 41 Princeton children in brief dramatizations from children's books. The half-hour program contains five previews, all based on books available at the Library. The books were chosen, and the preview scripts developed, by members of workshops held jointly by the Library and Creative Theatre Unlimited and funded by the Princeton Youth Fund.

"Book Previews 1985" will be shown twice on Home Link's public access Channel 35, on Wednesday, October 9 at 4:30 and on Thursday, October 10 at 7:30. Two weeks later a similar tape, "Book Previews 1984," will be shown on Channel 35 on Wednesday, October 23 at 4:30 and on Thursday, October 24, at 7:30. "Book Previews 1984" won first-prize in a state-wide video contest sponsored by the Audiovisual Section of the New Jersey Library Association.

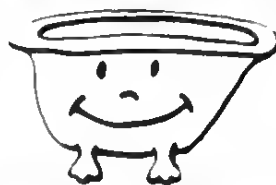

A third Library production is "The Storyteller: Susan Danoff," a program taped during a live performance at the Library in July. Storyteller Susan Danoff, a Princeton resident, is widely known for her performance of traditional tales from a variety of sources.

This program, which contains folk stories from five cultures plus a literary story by Laurence Housman, will be shown on Wednesday, October

BIOGRAPHER TO SPEAK

At Library. Frances Saunders, author of Ellen Axson Wilson: First Wife and First Lady, will speak at the Public Library on Tuesday at 8.

Ms. Saunders, who grew up in Virginia, brings a special insight into the Southern background of her subject — a woman who used her considerable talents and literary flair to further her husband's career rather than one of her own.

The author has lived in Princeton for many years. Much of her research has been done in Princeton University's collection of Woodrow Wilson papers. Arthur Link, editor of the papers, got her started on this work with a challenge to write about a special friend of Wilson's, Mary Hulbert. Her article, "Love and Guilt: on 'Breaking into Print' on Woodrow Wilson and Mary Hulbert," was published in American Heritage.

Frances Saunders

In the course of that work, she read much about Ellen Wilson, including eloquent and passionate love letters to her from Wilson.

Ms. Saunders' earlier writing was scientific and technical, making use of her combination of advanced degrees in chemistry and English literature.

She is currently at work on a book about Southern novelist Ellen Glasgow.

SEMINAR FOR WRITERS

At the YWCA. A New York literary agent and two editors of literary journals will be the featured speakers at a seminar on "Breaking into Print" on Saturday morning, October 19. The seminar is sponsored by the Princeton Writers' Center.

in cooperation with the adult department of the YWCA.

The agent, Wendy Lipkind, has had her own independent agency since 1977. She handles adult fiction and nonfiction, including trendy humor, books on serious subjects, and novels in the more literary tradition, as well as so-called "potboilers." She will discuss what publishers and agents are looking for today, and how a writer can get an agent.

Representing literary journals will be John C. Kleis, editor of Four Quarters, and Walter Cummins, editor of The Literary Review.

They will talk about the kind of writing their journals publish; how to approach a journal editor; and how to figure out which of the many journals is the best bet for placing a particular story or poem.

The seminar will be held at the Princeton YWCA from 10 to 12:30. Admission is $18 for members of the YWCA, $20 for non-members. For further information and to register, call the YWCA at 924-5571.

OFFICIAL TO SPEAK

On U.S.-South African Relations. Frank Wisner, deputy assistant secretary of state for African affairs, will discuss "U.S.-South African Relations Today" at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School on Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in Bowl 1.

Since assuming his post in 1982, Mr. Wisner has played an active role in shaping U.S. relations with South Africa and with other nations in the region. He has been influential in U.S.-led negotiations in Africa, including talks on Namibian independence from South Africa and on the issue of Cuban troops in Angola. He helped engineer the Lusaka Agreement, which led to a temporary cease-fire on the Angolan-Namibian border, and has worked on negotiations to stabilize relations between South Africa and Mozambique.

In recent years Mr. Wisner has served as U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of Zambia (1979-82), director of the State Department's Office of Southern African Affairs (1976-77), and special assistant to the under secretary of state for political affairs (1975-76).

His State Department assignments have also taken him to Indochina, including a post at the U.S. embassy in Saigon during 1965-67. During 1975 he directed the President's Interagency Task Force on Indochina Refugees.

Mr. Wisner began his career with the State Department as a Foreign Service officer following his graduation from Princeton in 1961. His first assignment was in Algeria. The lecture is open to the public and free of charge.

Answer to Ms. Browder.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Re: Nancy Browder's letter,
TOWN TOPICS, "Mailbox," October 2, 1985, "Scrap This Rent Law."

The public record indicates that:

(1) Nancy Browder is an alternate landlord representative appointed by Mayor and

tion Board;

(2) Nancy Browder was found to be in violation of the Montgomery Woods. River

PETER T. JOHNSON Now Montgomery Township
Chairman, Rent has applications before it for at Registration Board least two more high density programs in the exact same area, namely Blue Spring

Border Developments.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am writing to express my alarm at developments along the northern border of Princeton.

Already along River Road a beautiful forest has been destroyed by construction of at least two more high density programs in the exact same

area, namely Blue Spring

Mews, and a new project of 683
townhouses off Blue Spring Road. It appears that all of Montgomery's low income housing will be placed on the Princeton border. Many questions still surround the granting of a permit to Calton Homes for

Montgomery Woods and this was the preserved alignment area for the S-92 Bypass.

As this area is growing rapidly
we have to expect a large number of new projects, but this should be done with careful planning and foresight.

JEFFREY T. APTER, M.D.

Support Still Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Our thanks to Town Topics for the fine coverage of the $1.5 million grant received last month from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation in Michigan. We are elated about the opportunities this grant affords us to improve and expand our service to the thousands of printhandicapped citizens across the country who have come to rely on taped textbooks from Recording for the Blind.

Let our many friends and supporters in the Princeton area think this grant has eliminated the need for additional support, let me emphasize that these are restricted funds to be used to replace antiquated equipment and establish new recording studios in Boston and Philadelphia to facilitate the recording of technical books.

RFB continues to rely on corporations, foundations and generous individuals for gifts and grants to cover annual operating expenses. This applies both to the local Princeton Recording Unit, which raises its own operating funds, and to the national organization as a whole.

IT'S NEW TO US

TEMPTING TREATS

At Hot Food To Go. "This is the heart of the place. It may be a little small, but we get the job done." Lou Lolito, owner of Hot Food To Go, Gourmet Deli & Caterers, smiled as he commented on the size of his kitchen. Small it may be, but a wonderful array of savory dishes are prepared six days a week.

Located at 236 Nassau Street, Hot Food To Go has been tempting the palates of hungry Princetonians for a year and a half.

"I was in the restaurant and catering business with my family in Ramsey," recalls Lou, "but I wanted to branch out on my own. So I moved down here. Princeton was one of the prettiest areas with the most to offer so we started looking for a location to open up here."

Hot Food To Go, which is both a gourmet deli and a catering service, appealed to people almost from the start. Its variety of hot and cold dishes, with home cooked specialties daily, along with its quick service, were especially welcome to people on their way into work or on a tight lunch hour.

"It took a little while to be discovered," reports Lou, "but now we see 300 people in here each day. We see new faces and lots of repeated faces. Breakfast and lunch are the busiest. People stop in for coffee on their way to work, and then they'll pick up our new 99¢ special — ham and egg, bacon and egg or pork roll and egg or a roll. For lunch, they like the homemade soups, (in winter, especially, I can't make enough soup for people), chili, meat balls, and at course, the sandwiches and salads. Also, our new special is very popular — a hot stuffed baked potato, with chili, cheese, broccoli or sour cream. It's reasonable — $1.85 — and filling enough for a light lunch."

Loves to Cook. One of the reasons for the success of Hot Food To Go is the attention given to every aspect of the cooking. As Lou says, "My real thing is cooking. I love to cook. I make meat balls every day, and they're made from scratch. For veal cutlets, I buy leg of veal and slice it down. We don't take short cuts. I do all the cooking, the prepping and the seasoning. I come in at 7:15 to get started, set up the coffee pot and get right into the cooking."

He finds it best not to plan each day's specialties too far in advance. "I usually plan the menu the day before — not too far ahead. It's more creative that way. I can do what I want. It depends on how I feel. If I'm in a really creative mood, I'll make stuffed peppers, chicken marsala or beef stroganoff."

Worth the Long Hours. It's a long, 14-hour day and hectic, hard work. His wife had worked with him, but now with a month-old baby girl at home, she can only come to the store occasionally. Despite the long hours, Lou believes it is definitely worthwhile. "I'm very happy. The people of Princeton have been good to us. It pleases me when people come in and say they like what I've cooked for them."

They certainly seem to — especially the home cooked specialties like lasagne, baked ziti, chicken, veal and eggplant parmigiana and such delicious homemade soups as beef and barley, chicken noodle, cream of broccoli and New England and Manhattan clam chowder.

"I think the hot food makes us a little more gourmet," explains Lou. "I wanted to be gourmet. That was the idea, and I think our hot, homemade specialties add a gourmet touch."

Desserts are not neglected either. Special cookies and freshly filled cannolis are available for those with a sweet tooth.

In addition, there are the universal snacks — potato chips, popcorn, cookies, candy, soda, etc., as well as a selection of daily newspapers.

Lou also hopes the catering end of the business will develop. "We're trying to get it started," he notes, "and the best advertising is word of mouth. We do any size party. We did one recently for 250 people. We'll do hors d'oeuvres or dinners for private homes. Whatever."

Being surrounded by such an array of mouthwatering dishes day in and day out would challenge anyone's will power, and Lou is no exception. Nibbling is an ongoing problem, he reports. "I'm tasting something constantly," he says. "All the time. Actually, I never sit down to a meal — it's just a continuous round of tasting. But, gosh, I do have to restrain myself!"

His customers show no sign of restraint, however, and continue heading straight for the creative cooking at Hot Food To Go. Hours are 7:30 to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

MOVIE MAGIC

At Princeton Video Express. How about seeing a movie? One of the classics, perhaps — Casablanca, Gone With the Wind, or The Picture of Dorian Gray — or a foreign film, The Damned, maybe or The Garden of the Finzi Continis or one of the new releases, such as Amadeus or The Killing Fields. All these and many, many more, are available on video cassettes at Princeton Video Express located at 20 Nassau Street.

"The business we are selling is really entertainment," explains Michael Cooper, one of the three owners (along with Kenny Dabrow and Susan Lichtman) of the new store. "We waited for a year for a store front to become available in downtown Princeton. We were looking for a unique market. We want to be considered the community's store. We are here to provide whatever people want, whether it's film, satellite dishes, portable VCRs — whatever."

Indeed, films, by the score, are the highlight of Princeton Video Express which opened just a month ago. There are 2,000 films in stock now, and business has been so encouraging that in another month, they expect to double that figure.

Video cassettes played on a Video Cassette Recorder (VCR) or Video Player are a tremendously growing business. As more and more people acquire VCRs, they realize the convenience of enjoying a movie (or a musical concert or comedy routine) in their own home.

"This is a very appealing idea," notes store manager Marc Cooper. "Watching a movie at your own convenience and leisure is becoming more and more popular."

All you need is the equipment, of course, and Princeton Video Express also sells VCRs and rents Video Players (the latter, which can attach to any television set, are available for $4.99 a night of $9.99 for the weekend.)

Good Value & Selection. Marc reports that Princeton residents have been intrigued by the selection so far and have not hesitated to ask for additional films. "People are definitely coming in. They are pleased with what we have to offer and our special plans and programs. We have good value and a good selection. And we try hard to please our customers. For example, people have asked for more foreign films, and we've been able to get them."

Michael Cooper also emphasizes the importance of pleasing the customers. "Our primary message in Princeton is that we will build the store based on what customers tell us they want to see. The most rapidly growing section is foreign films because people have asked for them."

CHOOSE YOUR OWN MOVIE at Princeton Video Express. Kenny Dabrow and Michael Cooper, two of the three owners of the new store, offer an extensive selection of video cassettes.

The prices and special plans are inviting too. Individual overnight rentals for a cassette (whether Beta or VHS, the two types of cassettes) are $3.50 and a bargain long-term rental for 30 films is available for $49.95. Purchase of a cassette can range from $19.95 to $79.95.

The appeal of the rentals extends across the board, according to Marc. "Lots of students are coming in and faculty, as well as customers throughout the community and also from Hopewell and the surrounding area."

Movies the Mainstay. He adds that foreign films and drama are especially popular, seeming to attract all age groups. Available, too, are the concert series such as Richard Pryor, Eddie Murphy and Bill Cosby. Musicals (Michael Jackson's Thriller) and instructional tapes (Jane Fonda's Workout) are also on hand.

Movies are the mainstay, though, and customers can enjoy themselves browsing through the attractive store. All the favorites are there, including a nice children's selection with such titles as Robin Hood, The Black Stallion, Lassie, Benji, Superman and a variety of Walt Disney films. A wide selection is available for the grown-ups, too, with such categories as Drama, Action Adventure, Sci-Fi, Horror, New Releases, Classic, Foreign, Comedy and Musicals. If making a decision is difficult, help is nearby, and Marc notes, "I enjoy having a chance to talk with people about the movies. I tell them about the ones I know, and I also get new knowledge from customers about the ones I haven't seen. It's nice when you're selling something that's fun. When you can enjoy the product."

Michael Cooper adds that he hopes good, quick service will become a hallmark of the store, hence the name Princeton Video Express. "We thought the parking situation in town was such a challenge, with people coming from all over, that we'd have to deliver quickly!" he explains.

Flexibility of hours is another important plus, and the store is open until midnight three nights a week. "People come in after dinner and decide they'd like to see a movie, so they come in and get a video," says Marc. "Students might like to get one after they've finished studying and want to relax for an hour or two. They'll know we're here, and they can come in."

And they'll know that first-rate service and attention to the customers' preferences is a number one priority. As Michael Cooper adds, "People here are a unique breed. We will try to be as responsive as we have been, and we hope they will continue to welcome us."

Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to midnight Friday and Saturday, and noon to midnight Sunday.

Wednesday, November 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium. The remaining dates for the two-hour sessions are November 13, 20 and 27.

In addition to the history of Halley's Comet, its return, and where and when to see it best, other related information will be covered. Topics will include background on comets, chemistry types, effect on earth — such as the possible relationship between comets and the extinction of dinosaurs — and public reaction (mostly fright) over the years.

A short time at the beginning of each session will be devoted to constellation identification. The appearance of the sky during each of the four seasons will also be covered. The course will conclude with an observing session at Washington Crossing State Park.

The museum staff suggests early registration because of the seating capacity of the planetarium and the widespread interest in this phenomenon on the part of the general public as well as the scientific community. There is a charge of $10 for four sessions for the first family member and $8 for each additional family member under 15. The charge is $8 and $6 for Museum Friends.

Checks should be made payable to Treasurer, State of New Jersey, and mailed to Halley Happening, New Jersey State Museum Planetarium, 205 West State Street, CN 530, Trenton, 08625.

While the information to be presented is of general interest, science teachers covering the appearance of Halley's Comet in their curriculum may also benefit from these sessions. For registration forms or information, call 292-6333 weekdays from 9 to 4.

FLU SHOTS AVAILABLE

fluenza vaccine is a combination of the strains A/Chile/1/83 and A/Philippines/2/82 and B/USSR/100/83.

The U.S. Public Health Service's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices advises flu vaccination for the chronically ill, such as diabetics, heart, kidney or anemia patients; heavy smokers, asthma and tuberculosis patients and others with impaired breathing; people with low immune defenses, including patients on immunosuppressive drugs and some cancer patients; those over 65, since risk of death in flu outbreaks generally increases with age.

Persons in doubt about whether to take the flu shots should first consult their physician for medical advice.

FALL FESTIVAL

At Howell Farm, Howell Farm in Hopewell will celebrate its annual fall festival on Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The event will feature activities reminiscent of a turn-of-the-century farm, including milling, bread baking, cider making, shingle-splitting, and two-man sawing.

National Champion shepherd, the appropriately named Jim Shearer of Pennsylvania, will herd the farm's sheep with his border collies on Saturday at 11:30, 1:30 and 3:30. Other Saturday events include a 10 a.m. peanut scramble, a 1 p.m. apple-bobbing contest, and a 3 p.m. log sawing contest.

On Sunday at 11 there will be a family scavenger hunt followed by a children's pumpkin decorating contest at 1, a corn husking bee at 2, and a "big hitch" with draft horses at 3.

Hayrides to and from the parking lot will run continuously during the festival.

Howell Living History Farm is located on Valley Road, one mile east of the Belle Mountain Ski Area. For information, call 397-0449 or 989-6533.

SWIM ON SUNDAYS

At the YWCA, The YWCA holds an open swim on Sunday afternoons.

The hour from 1 to 2 is reserved for the disabled and those over age 60 with special needs. During this hour volunteers are on hand to assist in the locker room and pool, and two physical therapists are in the water to offer assistance.

Lap and family swim is from 2 to 4. The fee is $2 for members, $3 for non members, and $5 for a family of a member.

Dudley Hawkes

According to Dr. Robert Dunn, his partner in Orthopaedic Associates and the first colleague to reach the scene of the accident, Dr. Hawkes had "checked himself out" in the Mooney 201 plane he rented a day or so before the accident, and had several times that morning checked on weather conditions. He had been flying for several years, had logged 400 to 500 hours flying time, and had been instrument-rated for the last two years.

Early in the afternoon he filed an IFR (instrument flight rules) flight plan. After take-off he radioed McGuire Air Force Base that he was climbing through 800 feet, as prescribed, and that was the last he was heard from. What happened next is a matter of conjecture, notes Dr. Dunn, who is also a pilot.

There are conflicting eyewitness reports of a plane circling several times, but there was another plane in the area at the time. There were also reports of loud engine revving just before the plane hit the ground across the street from the Washington Township municipal building at 2:27 p.m. It plowed into a four-foot embankment across Route 130, but miraculously missed the highway and several buildings.

No Malfunction. Dr. Dunn, who stayed at the scene through preliminary investigation, says it is clear to him that there was no malfunction of the plane's electrical or mechanical systems, and no fuel problem. The Mooney 201, known as a high performance plane, was equipped with navigational equipment and auto pilot instrumentation in excess of what some commercial planes carry, he said.

Dr. Dunn also said that preliminary autopsy findings showed no evidence of heart disease or other condition which could have played a role in the accident. However, Dr. Dunn cautioned that a thorough autopsy and investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board, the Federal Aviation Administration and the state Aeronautics Board could take weeks, and until the investigation is completed, "no one really knows for sure what happened."

Fourth Generation. Born in Newark, Dr. Hawkes was the fourth generation of Hawkes to practice surgery in New Jersey. His grandfather was a founder of Newark's Presbyterian Hospital and its medical director for 21 years. His father was former president of the United Hospitals of Newark. He spent his early years on the family farm in Denville, where he developed a lifelong interest in farming, particularly tending animals and growing vegetables.

An alumnus of Newark Academy in Livingston, he was graduated in 1954 from Deerfield Academy. He received an A.B. degree from Hamilton College four years later and a medical degree from the New York University Medical School in 1963. He spent a four year-residency in orthopaedic surgery at North Carolina Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill, N.C. and an additional year there as a medical fellow and instructor in hand surgery. In 1971, he and his wife and four children moved to Princeton.

Dr. Hawkes was an avid skier and tennis player, but best of all he loved working with his hands. Nailing boards on a barn roof, working on the engine of an old pick-up truck, or canning tomatoes he had grown himself, were all an extension of his work as a surgeon, friends and colleagues say. He also enjoyed people and spent time listening and asking questions, always eager to learn new things.

According to Dr. Dunn, he was particularly proud of his role as president of the medical and dental staff this past year, and the procedural changes he had effected by what Dr. Dunn calls the "sheer force of his personality."

Dr. Hawkes was elected to the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons and the Eastern Orthopaedic Association and was a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

He was a member of Pretty Brook Tennis Club and Trinity Church, where he served as an usher, and a former trustee of Trinity Counseling Center.

He is survived by his wife, the Rev. Daphne W.P. Hawkes; three sons, Richard, Andrew and Timothy, and a daughter, Jennifer; his father, Stuart Z. Hawkes of Albuquerque, N.M.; his stepmother, Mrs. Alfred W. Roberts of Mountain Lakes; and a brother, Edward Z. Hawkes II of Boonton.

The service was held at the Princeton University Chapel, with burial in Trinity-All Saints' Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Medical Center at Princeton.

BUSINESS

JACK HONORE'S REOPENS
In New Location. Jack Honore's Barber Shop, closed for the past month, has reopened at its new location, 28 Palmer Square East, adjacent to the Nassau Inn motor entrance. The shop is one of Princeton's institutions, with a history which (unofficially) dates back to 1883 and a present owner who has been with the shop for 56 years.

In 1929 a young barber named Arthur DeCore came to Princeton to assist at Jack Honore's Shop, which was then located at 38 Nassau Street. Jack Honore had asked for his services for just one week and assigned Arthur (as his clients have always called him) the chair farthest from the door, as befitted an unknown. Arthur never left. He bought the business from Mr. Honore in 1951 and in 1955 asked his son-in-law, Bob Chaty, who had just returned from the Korean War, to join him in what, from then on, could be considered a family business.

Arthur retained the shop's original name. And when the shop moved from Nassau Street to 39 Palmer Square West in 1963, he saw to the careful removal and reinstallation of its chairs, marble panels, mirrors and Princeton memorabilia.

Jack Honore's serves a devoted clientele which represents a cross-section of the area. Literary, scientific and political well-knowns (Arthur prefers not to mention names) sit beside teenagers and University undergraduates. One Princeton family

Carol and her husband Alex at their home on Herrontown Road.

Say WO • JO • HO • ITS
and you've named the outstanding candidate for Township Committee!

Carol Wojciechowicz. Not an easy name to spell, that's for sure. But Carol's record is very easy to applaud because for 25 years she's been doing so much for the Princeton community.

For example -- remember Princeton Hospital's "Heavenly Fete" in 1983? A huge, complex undertaking and a great success. Carol was Co-Chairperson. Currently she is Corresponding Secretary of the Medical Center Auxiliary Board. She's definitely a "take charge" person.

Carol is also a very warm and loving woman. She and her husband Alex have raised six children including two foster children and one ward. She's been active in four different PTOs (President of one), and as a Girl Scout leader for eight years and as a Den Mother as well.

Does she have any business sense? Well, she is now Vice President of a vigorously growing medical supply company and a manager of nearby Wall Stadium. She's had local government experience, too, as a current Alternate Member of the Zoning Board. This charming dynamo of a woman is also an accomplished skier, scuba diver and balloonist.

Carol has been doing lots of good things for Princeton. Now she would like to put that energy, dedication and experience into your Township Committee. To do it, she needs your vote on November 5th. Remember -- Carol is super!

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

"Quite possibly, the treatment of cancer as we know it today will be dramatically improved through such products," stated Dr. Ronald J. Brenner, president of Cytogen Corporation. "Cytogen's unique monoconal linkage technology will make possible superior targeted delivery and release of the Erbamat compounds to both primary tumors and metastatic lesions."

RELIGION

TWO JOIN STAFF

At Unitarian Church. Two new members have joined the staff of the Unitarian Church. Karen Snow, a life-long Unitarian, is the religious education coordinator. Ms. Snow is a graduate of Rutgers University with a degree in geology and has taken continuing education courses at Mead Lombard Theological Seminary. She has been involved in religious education for 12 years, having previously been connected with both the Cherry Hill Unitarian Church and the Main Line Unitarian Church in Devon, Pa. She has also been affiliated with the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia.

Under her guidance, a young adult group for post-high school young people has been formed at the Princeton Unitarian Church. Ms. Snow has an interest in promoting a greater church-wide emphasis for the Sunday school, with all the church family as teachers and learners.

Dr. Joseph Kirschner will serve the church as ministerial intern until January. He received degrees in chemical engineering and history from Tulane University and a doctor of education degree from Youngstown University. He has written on such subjects as educational technology, the free school tradition, and the 19th century American communal tradition.

Dr. Kirschner's commitment to Unitarianism began during his college years. While teaching at Youngstown, he made the decision to change careers and go into the Unitarian ministry. He served as president of the Youngstown Unitarian Church while pursuing his studies in religion at Youngstown University.

While in Princeton, he will assist Dr. Edward Frost, minister, in a wide range of responsibilities. In January, he will return to Youngstown to continue his studies.

SPONSORS, WALKERS

Sought for CROP Walk. Some 500 walkers from area churches and schools are signing up their sponsors for Princeton's 12th annual CROP Walk for the Hungry on October 20. Starting out from the Princeton Shopping Center, walkers will register at 1:30.

Last year's route through central Princeton will again be followed, and the mini-mile will also be available to the elderly, handicapped or families with small children.

Seventy-five percent of the funds raised will be used for long-term, self-help programs, such as water retention systems, in Africa. There torrential summer rains have caused flooding on the parched ground. Trenton's clergy association also receives funds raised in Princeton to use as an emergency reserve throughout the year for several food programs.

For further information, see your church or school recruiter or call the CROP office at 924-6466.

INTERIM PASTOR NAMED

By Christ Congregation. The Rev. John Moyer has been named interim pastor at Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Road.

Mr. Moyer, who takes up his new duties on Sunday, follows co-pastors, the Rev. Mark and the Rev. Margot Pickett, who have moved to Norwiche, Vt. where Mr. Pickett is now pastor of the Norwich Congregational Church. Mr. Moyer spent 10 years in parish ministry before accepting a position with the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries of the United Church of Christ. Having spent 20 years in this position, he is eager to return to parish ministry, and his interim ministry with Christ Congregation is a first step in that direction.

Mr. Moyer earned an undergraduate degree in music at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., and an M.Div. degree at Yale Divinity School.

BULLETIN NOTES

Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, 124 Witherspoon Street, will hold a "Campus Outreach Service" Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service. Students at area seminary and college campuses are especially invited.

The Princeton University Gospel Choir will provide special music. Refreshments and a fellowship hour follow the service.

The church is also initiating a Host Family Program to encourage fellowship between students and families in the community. For more information about the program or the service call 924-1666.

"The Future of the American Jewish Community" is the focus of this year's lecture series sponsored by the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at Princeton University.

Egon Mayer, whose new book Love and Tradition is the first extended sociological study of intermarriage and the children of intermarriage, will talk on "Intermarriage and the Jewish Future" on Wednesday, October 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the Woodrow Wilson School Bowl 2. Dr. Mayer is professor of sociology at Brooklyn College and a consultant to the American Jewish Committee. He is the president of the Association for the Sociological Study of Jewry and the author of From Suburb to Shtetl, a study of the Jews of Boro Park.

Nassau Presbyterian Church is holding a three-part Soup and Study program on major leaders of the Protestant Reformation. The series began last week and will continue this Sunday and the following Sunday. The group meets from 6 to 7:30 in the Assembly Room to share a simple meal at a cost of $2 before hearing a presentation by a noted church historian.

This Sunday's talk on Bullinger will be led by Dr. Edward Dowey, professor of the history of church doctrine at Princeton Theological Seminary. Next Sunday, Dr. Theodore Gill, professor of philosophy at John Jay College of Criminal Justice, City University of New York and former president of San Francisco Theological Seminary, will speak on Zwingli.

The Board of Social Action at Christ Congregation is sponsoring a five week "Second Hour" series titled "Faith and Politics," a study of the role and responsibility of the church and the individual Christian in responding to secular issues which overlap Christian concerns.

The series begins this Sunday at 11:15 when Jim Moorhead, professor of history at Princeton Theological Seminary, will talk about the "Protestant View of Social Responsibilities in the 19th Century." The church's response — or lack of response — to issues such as slavery, temperance and the emergence of capitalism, will be discussed.

The following Sunday, Charles McCollough will present some "Models of response," setting up a variety ty of models based on different theological perspectives and historical experiences. The series runs through November 10, and the public is welcome.

Prof. W.D. Davies of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Tex., will be the guest preacher Sunday at 11 at the Princeton University Chapel.

John Kuzma will be featured as the organ recitalist in Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, Sunday at 4 when he plays a half-hour program before the service of choral evensong.

Mr. Kuzma was director of music for the American Boychoir before taking up his present position as classical program host at WWFM radio station, Trenton. His program at Trinity Church will include works by Bach, Dandrieu and Max Reger.

The service of choral evensong, which follows the recital, will be sung by the Trinity choir of men, boys and girls under the direction of John Bertalot, with Irene Willis and Ken Lovett at the organ. The service will include music by Thomas Walmisley, John Blow and John Bertalot.

The opening meeting of the Mercer Section of the National Council of Jewish Women will be held on Thursday at 8:30 at the West Windsor Public Library.

Regina Podhorin and Courtney Esposito, both from Womenspace, will speak on "Domestic Violence: What an Individual Can Do to Change a Violent Society." They will also discuss programs for victims of domestic violence.

Refreshments will be served. New members are welcome.

Society of Musical Amateurs Celebrates 50th Anniversary With Long-time Leader, J. Merrill Knapp, Conducting Bach

When J. Merrill Knapp lifts his baton Sunday afternoon, and the chorus and orchestra launch full voice into the big opening "Kyrie" of the Bach B Minor Mass, it will be the 18th time he has conducted this work.

The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs, which Prof. Knapp will be conducting at the Unitarian Church, traditionally concludes its season with the B Minor Mass in May. But this year, the Amateurs are celebrating their 50th anniversary, and it was decided to begin the anniversary year with the conductor who has been a mainstay of the organization and the one work which has been regularly performed each year.

The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs was started in 1935 by Prof. Roy Dickinson Welch, the first chairman of the Princeton University Music Department. Patterned after the singing parties held in the Philadelphia home of Henry Drinker, an informal group of about 20 met in the living room of Mrs. MacKenty Bryan's house on Armour Road to sing for their own pleasure works from the choral literature.

Prof. Welch conducted and had the assistance of a piano accompanist. Mrs. Bryan, an enthusiastic and exemplary hostess as well as a music lover, provided supper.

Move to Miss Fine's Gym. The group gradually grew too large for a living room and moved the meetings after World War II to the old Miss Fine's School, present site of Borough Hall. There Mrs. Bryan, who also ran the University concerts, continued as manager, chief cook and bottle washer. Old-timers remember the magnificent candle-light and white table cloth turkey dinners she served during intermission for the Christmas read-through of the Handel Messiah.

Prof. Knapp, conductor of the Princeton University Glee Club, was asked by Prof. Welch to take over the conducting chores in 1948, and from then until the mid-1950's he conducted at each of the monthly meetings from October to May. His music department colleague Elliot Forbes did some of the conducting until he left Princeton to become conductor of the Harvard Glee Club in 1958. The Society has since spread the conducting among a variety of conductors drawn from area churches and Westminster Choir College as well as the University.

Prof. Knapp notes that in the early days, the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs was the only town musical organization other than church choirs. Now there is a proliferation of choral groups large and small, most of which are performing groups. Amateurs always made it clear that the Society existed for the sheer pleasure of reading through great choral works and the not for performance.

While the chorus was amateur and the orchestra of semi-professional, the soloists ficer of a submarine chaser, executive officer of a destroyer escort and assistant operations officer for the Third Amphibious Force. He finished the Princeton war as a lieutenant commander with a commendation ribbon and two battle stars for service in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Pacific areas.

There are once-a-year Messiah sings all over the lot — in Chicago and New York. For 1946 he was appointed instructor — but as a town affair that still meets on a regular basis, this organization is full professor in 1961. A popular unique, he remarks teacher on the graduate and Amateurs' chorus numbers undergraduate level. Prof. around 120 and draws people Knapp was best known for his regularly from New York and Philadelphia. The orchestra averages 30-35 with full complement scoring and some are very good instrumentalists who are taking a sort of busman's holiday from playing professionally.

There are no rehearsals. The conductor meets with the soloists for an hour in advance to establish tempi, and "then we start," Prof. Knapp says. He adds as his summary: "Sometimes it sounds perfectly awful, but most of the time it is a lot better than it has any right to sound."

Multi-faceted Career. Prof. Knapp says that at one point in his life he thought he might like to make a career out of conducting. But as his teaching and research developed he became a world-renowned Handel scholar who has conducted professional orchestras in major Handel festivals abroad.

A European history major at Yale, Class of 1936, he started out as a history teacher at a private boys school, The Thatcher School, in Ojai, Calif. He also wrote obituaries for the San Francisco Chronicle for a brief period when a plague of mumps or scarlet fever closed down the school for four months.

But he had been something of a child prodigy pianist who once auditioned for Walter Damrosch, and at Yale he had sung in the Glee Club and the Whiffenpoofs and been president of both. He found he was spending more and more time at music, and so returned east to pursue a graduate degree in musicology at Columbia University. One year he commuted down to Princeton to take a course at Westminster Choir College.

The following year, 1941-42, he began at Princeton University as an assistant in music instruction and director of the Glee Club. The war intervened, and Mr. Knapp spent the next four years as a commanding officer of a submarine chaser, executive officer of a destroyer escort and assistant operations officer for the Third Amphibious Force. He finished the Princeton war as a lieutenant commander with a commendation ribbon and two battle stars for service in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Pacific areas.

courses on Handel, Wagner and The Opera.

Meanwhile he also served as director of the Glee Club until 1951 and 10 years later became only the sixth member of the faculty to be named Dean of the College since the office was established. Having served as Assistant Dean for four years, he was named Dean in 1961 and held the post for five years before returning again to full-time teaching and scholarship in the Music Department.

Handel Scholar. Scholarship has meant increasing involvement in research into the life and work of the German-born British composer George Frederick Handel. Beginning in 1959, Prof. Knapp has made frequent trips to Halle, Handel's birthplace in East Germany where he has heard, he says, a lot of Handel music and spent time furthering his research.

The climax came this past June when he received The Handel Prize of the German Democratic Republic on the 300th anniversary of Handel's birth and became the first American to be so honored. The presentation, consisting of a medal and a citation, was made in Halle by East Germany's Minister of Culture, who was accompanied by an entourage of about 20 party officials. The citation praised Prof. Knapp's many years of scholarly research and writing on Handel as well as his conducting of the composer's works.

He is also the only American named to a recently established international board to oversee the publication of a new and complete Handel edition. Also in June, Prof. Knapp read a paper on Handel's church music in a 16th century palazzo in Rome, where the composer spent some of the more formative years of his life.

From there he went on to the Gottingen Festival, an annual event where he has on several occasions conducted professional orchestras in works not previously performed. But the big celebration was in July in England where, he says, there was a whole series of concerts devoted to the music of Handel, and Handel scholars from all over the world were gathered.

With Royalty. The high point was sitting with his wife in the choir of Westminster Abbey listening to a performance of the Coronation Anthems which Handel wrote in 1727 for the Coronation of King George II and which have been performed for every coronation since. The Knapps were seated within view of the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh and later were introduced to these two representatives of British royalty at a reception in the banquet hall of Whitehall.

The conference ended with Service of Matins in St. Paul's Cathedral where the Jubilate and Te Deum Handel wrote in 1714 to commemorate the Peace of Utrecht were performed and the sermon was about music and Handel's position in England. "It was all very exciting," Prof. Knapp says.

Retired from the University as professor emeritus in 1982, Prof. Knapp is presently reading proof on a comprehensive two-volume study of Handel's 39 completed operas.

McCarter Theatre Receives Artistic Focus Grant Of $219,000 from N.J. State Council on the Arts

McCarter Theatre was among four recipients this year of an Artistic Focus Grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

To celebrate this fact and to explain how the $219,000 will be used, McCarter held a press luncheon last week at Prospect. Present were Nagle Jackson, artistic director, and Alison Harris, managing director.

Mr. Nagle called the grant "an extreme vote of confidence on the part of the state." The Artistic Focus Grant, he explained, was awarded to four arts institutions "to assist in their own development and also to enhance the state's artistic development."

Two cash reserve funds will be established, one of which will allow McCarter "greater budgetary leeway" to make more interesting productions and allow the theatre to "be more adventuresome."

As an example, Mr. Jackson said if a production was going in a certain direction and it was decided that one thing that would enhance it would be specially composed music, for instance, or choreography, money would be available to commission that music or hire that choreographer.

Shift in Theatre Style. Another portion of the grant will be used for what Mr. Jackson calls "research and development," which he described in part as "developing the full capability of the performing instrument — the actors." In addition, Mr. Jackson feels that there has been a shift in theatre style and that the new form, or presence, characteristic of the '80s has not yet been established or discovered.

News of The THEATRES

Over the centuries, theatre has taken different forms, he explained, such as the ritualistic nature of Greek drama or the courtly style of Renaissance plays. The prevalent style of the 1940s and '50s was naturalistic, but movies and television can do this better than the stage, Mr. Jackson observed. "I don't believe we have found the form for 1985," he said. "Adding rock musicians and tearing off one's clothes on stage is not the key."

Looking to Europe, Mr. Jackson expects to use part of the grant in research to help "find" what the new presence is, and he believes the key may be found in Europe. He has recently returned from two weeks touring European theatre festivals, partly with an eye toward holding an international theatre festival at McCarter.

The festival would be held in the summer months — given the air conditioning which is part of the present $3.5 million renovation — and would include a few American as well as foreign — European or even Asian — theatre companies.

Putting together such a festival would take several years of preparation, Mr. Jackson suggested, but he is thinking through the logistics and funding of a festival in 1988, perhaps to be held in conjunction with an existing foreign festival, as the American Spoleto Festival in Charleston, S.C. is held with the festival in Spoleto, Italy.

In addition, grant monies will also be used to commission a play by an American playwright. Mr. Jackson said that he is "already in discussion" with one particular author and has several others in mind. He expects to announce the selection in two-three weeks. Funds are also available to hire actors for workshop readings of the play in progress.

Demolition Underway. Managing Director Alison Harris reported that interior demolition preparatory to reconstruction is about 75 percent complete and "on schedule." Ms. Harris fully expects McCarter to reopen March 3, as scheduled, with a gala benefit featuring Marilyn Horne. The event will be sponsored by McCarter Associates as a benefit for the theater.

When McCarter reopens, it will be licensed to sell alcoholic beverages before curtain and during intermission, under the terms of a bill that became state law in April. The law permits theatres of more than 1,000 seats to sell alcoholic drinks before and after a performance.

According to Ms. Harris, drinks such as beer and wine will be available in a lounge outside the upstairs ladies room, but not in the auditorium. McCarter presently takes in about $50,000 a year in concession sales, and the alcoholic drinks are expected to add another $15,000.

In addition to air conditioning, the $3.6 million renovation will mean refurbished seats, improved air circulation, added restrooms on both levels, an infra-red hearing enhancement system, and a "thrust" or "concert stage" system whereby the stage can be extended into the auditorium.

Ms. Harris reported that $2.7 had been raised of the $3.6 million for phase I renovations and that McCarter was midway through individual solicitation, having initiated the corporate phase, and expected to launch the community phase later this month. Funds raised so far include $370,000 from the state of New Jersey (apart from the Artistic Focus grant) and $785,000 from the board of trustees and the McCarter Associates board of directors combined.

More than $300,000 has been raised from individuals, close to $450,000 from corporations, and $625,000 from foundations, McCarter reports.

NEW DRAMA DIRECTOR
At Lawrenceville. The century-old dramatic society at the Lawrenceville School, The Periwig Club, has a new director for its 182nd major production.

She is Penelope Reed, an actress familiar to audiences at the McCarter Theatre for the last five years, in such demanding leading roles as Hannah in The Night of the Iguana, Fonia in The Gin Game, Olga in The Three Sisters, and Winnie in Happy Days. In addition to directing the club's productions, her new responsibilities include those of chairman of the dramatic arts department and director of the Kirby Arts Center.

For her first production Ms. Reed has chosen Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy, The Skin of Our Teeth. She has assembled a cast of 70 and begun rehearsals of the outrageous salute to mankind's ability and determination to survive down through the eons of history. The show opens Friday, October 25 at 8 in Lawrenceville's Kirby Arts Center, and repeats on the following night.

Tickets at $2 ($1 for students) may be reserved through The Jigger Shop, 896 0620, and claimed at the box office on the night of the performance.

Though Ms. Reed is known primarily as an actress locally and is a fourth generation member of an acting family on her father's side, she comes naturally to teaching through maternal influence. She has a wide experience teaching speech and acting, and directing in both academic institutions and the commercial theatre. Locally she has recently directed The Importance of Being Earnest (Off-Broadstreet Theatre) and Pericles (McCarter Summer Shakespeare).

Ms. Reed has also written for the stage. One of her works, Dreams, will be seen later in the fall on the Kirby Arts Center's stage, when she appears with McCarter's assistant artistic director/actor Robert Lanchester. Dreams is a montage of improvisations and classical dramatic scenes — dreams of hope, waking and sleeping, dreams from the works of Shakespeare, Chaucer, Freud, Jung, Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King, Jr., and others.

The selection of Wilder's The Skin of Our Teeth for production at Lawrenceville ten years after his death honors one of the school's most distinguished former faculty members. Wilder completed his first novel, The Cabala, and wrote his first Pulitzer Prize winner, The Bridge of San Luis Rey, while a teacher of French and a housemaster at Lawrenceville.

GANGSTER EPIC
Film at Kresge. Movies-from-McCarter will offer four showings of Sergio Leone's $28 million gangster epic, Once Upon a Time In America, at Kresge Auditorium on Monday and Wednesday, October 14 and 16, at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Cut by more than an hour from its original four-hour running time for its domestic release last season, Once Upon a Time In America will be shown in the 150-minute version which Leone has not approved. The cuts produce obvious holes in the story, which follows the violent fortunes of a gang of Jewish gangsters in New York from 1921 to the late 1960's.

Robert De Niro and James Woods co-star as Noodles and Max, the leaders of a gang who start out as street urchins in the 20's. The two reunite in 1933 after Noodles has served time in prison for killing a rival hood, and Leone charts the gang's subsequent rise to underworld prominence as they dispose of Mafia colleagues, forge links with corrupt labor unions, and fight among themselves.

Once Upon a Time In America was labeled by one critic as a kind of "Kosher Godfather," in which Leone adopts the mythic style he developed in his popular "spaghetti" westerns with Clint Eastwood. Despite the gaps in the narrative resulting from cuts by the distributor, the story is held together by Robert De Niro's commanding presence, and by Leone's sweeping pictorialism. Single-ticket admission is $3.25; Princeton University

'CABARET' READY
At Community College. Cabaret, the prize-winning Broadway musical that launched one of the major song hits of the late 1960s, will be presented at the Kelsey Theatre on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College, October 11-13, and 18-19, at 8 p.m.

Opening on Broadway in November 1966, and continuing nearly three years, Cabaret won all three of the "best musical of the year" awards, the Tony award, the N.Y. Drama Critic's Circle award, and the Outer Circle Critics award.

Based by Joe Masteroff on John Van Druten's 1952 play I Am a Camera and Christopher Isherwood's 1939 book of Berlin Stories which inspired Van Druten, Cabaret takes place in Berlin in the years just before Hitler came to power. Denine Pappalardo as Sally Bowles and Ray Pental as Clifford Bradshaw portray outsiders caught up in the events taking place in the glitter and frenzy of Berlin. She is a restless, reckless English girl trying to believe in her singing talent; he an American hoping to become a writer and fatalistically drawn to her.

Add to these characters a Jewish middle aged couple who delude themselves that the Nazi movement is no threat to them, and a clown-faced master of ceremonies from the cabaret where much of the action takes place. At intervals, the Master of Ceremonies struts, jeers, cackles, and clowns through a handful of impudent songs intended to muffle the ominous sounds of brown shirts goosestepping in the streets.

Directed by Maureen West, Cabaret is choreographed by Lisa Jarroni with musical direction by Richard Coatman. For tickets call the Kelsey hotline, 586-4695.

Area residents in the cast include Bill Chamberlin and Roberto Lipp of Princeton, Amy Raditz of Plainsboro, and Peter Labriola of Pennington.

He has been writing the book in collaboration with an English writer and music critic whom he met years ago. When published by Oxford University Press, the book will mark the first time the operas will have been dealt with in detail, he says.

In the spring of 1966, Prof. Knapp conducted the American premiere of Handel's seldom-performed opera Imeneo at McCarter Theatre with the Princeton Chamber Orchestra and professional soloists. With the same group he later gave the American premiere of the composer's Amadigi.

As a retirement "gift" to the University and to the Music Department he had served so long, Prof. Knapp conducted Handel's Alexander's Feast, a setting of John Dryden's ode to St. Cecilia, patron saint of music. The performance in Alexander Hall on February 19, 1982, marked the 246th anniversary of the first performance of the work.

More Bach for the Amateurs. On December 8 (Amateurs meets on the second Sunday of the month, October through April, and starts promptly at 4), Prof. Knapp will return to the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs' podium to lead the group in Bach's Christmas Oratorio, as much a tradition at Christmas as the B Minor Mass in May.

Other conductors and other works on the anniversary year schedule include Frederic Ford conducting Vaughan Williams' Dona Nobis Pacem on November 10; Robert Jones conducting Gilbert & Sullivan's Pinafore January 19; Joseph Flummerfelt, the Faure Requiem and Handel's Zadac the Priest February 16; and Lois Laverly, Purcell's Dido and Aeneas March 18.

The Amateur's 50th anniversary season will conclude April 16 with a special appearance by Elliot Forbes leading the group in the Brahms Requiem.

The turkey dinners have given way to cookies, cider and coffee, with occasionally a cake. The Unitarian Church became the meeting place when the Miss Fine's School gym was no longer available. And Grace Ramus followed Kit Bryan as the single individual who made all the arrangements for soloists, orchestra (with all parts represented and not too many of any one instrument), the hall, music stands, chairs, scores and refreshments.

Those tasks have more recently been parcelled out among a committee of 12, and there is a duly constituted board of trustees, set up when the Society became incorporated in 1963.

Despite these changes, Amateurs continues to provide a useful social function as well as a musical one. More than an organization, it is a meeting place for those who enjoy music and the making of music, particularly choral music. And Merrill Knapp, its longtime conductor, personifies that enjoyment combined with endeavor toward better musicianship in his long career.

Columbia Visit May Provide Temporary Cure for Tigers, But Victories Thereafter May Be Few and Far Between

There's nothing wrong with the Princeton football team that a little sunshine and a visit from Columbia this Saturday won't cure. Trouble is, that prescription is only good for one week.

The Tigers need to recover from a performance at Providence last weekend that rivaled the weather. Ron Rogerson has only three games under his belt as head coach here, but he may remember this one, a 17-0 shutout by Brown, as one of the worst.

Three forces combined to render the Orange and Black, especially its offense, virtually helpless through four quarters of play: 1) a decent Brown team; 2) some very indecent weather; and 3) the Tigers, themselves, who, at times, were their own worst enemy.

If progress is being made with the Wing-T, it was difficult to spot it on an afternoon when the offense failed to achieve at least one first down in seven of 12 possessions. Princeton ran only 47 plays from scrimmage, two less than last week; at this rate the Wing-T isn't even getting much practice.

The defense showed a little more. Although unable to stop the running of Jamie Potkul and quarterback Steve Kettleberger, it did stiffen near its goal line, and made the Bruins work hard for the 17 points they scored. It kept the Orange and Brown in the contest until late in the third quarter.

This had shaped up as a battle between two teams on fairly even terms, but the outcome was more decisive than the 34-13 loss to Lehigh. It also tells a lot more about where the Tigers are headed the rest of the season.

Realistically, the talk of battling for an Ivy title will begin to fade. Although saddled with just one league loss, Princeton has away games with Harvard and Penn ahead, and then faces Yale in Palmer Stadium. It will have a better chance of beating both Columbia and Cornell here, but that doesn't add up to enough victories for a title.

HE DID SOME DAMAGE, TOO: Brown's Brian Heffernan spent most of his time blocking for Jamie Potkul last Saturday, but when called upon, he was able to pick up good yardage, too. The Bruins' running game was in top form despite the weather in the 17-0 victory.

Non-league opponents left on the schedule include Colgate and William and Mary. The Tigers will go into both on the low end of the point spread. In case you missed the score, Colgate had no trouble at all with the Lehigh team that ran over ten off to starts of 2-1 in 1982, and 3-1 in both '83 and '84, only to fall on its face later on.

Not surprisingly, Rogerson has gotten off to a slower beginning while installing the new offense. But he has installed a new spirit as well, and maybe this will make a difference in some of the games later on.

Will Columbia Provide Cure? Maybe the cure for Princeton's ailing offense will come this Saturday when Columbia visits Palmer Stadium. Kickoff is set for 1:10, 20 minutes earlier than usual to accommodate Public Television, which will be doing the Ivy Game of the Week here. Marty Glickman does the play-by-play, with former Princeton coach Bob Casiola providing some very solid commentary and analysis.

This is the chance for Princeton's offense to score some points and gain confidence, against a defense that has been giving up an average of close to 40 points a game. Penn, which had scored only 13 points in its first two contests, tallied 37 in the first half last Saturday, and coasted to a 46-14 triumph.

The loss, coming after lopsided defeats by Harvard and Lafayette in the first two games, was the 17th straight for the Light Blue, dating back to 1983 when it defeated Yale.

The Lions have a new coach, because as the old adage goes, you can't fire the players. He's Jim Garrett, and if words won football games, he'd be leading the Lions to an undefeated season.

Since his outburst to a New York Times reporter after the Harvard opener, where he blamed his punter for the loss in several ill-advised comments, Garrett has calmed down. His comments earned him a censure by the school's administration and bad press everywhere.

He now hides in the rhetoric that most coaches use to make it impossible to tell what they are really thinking. But he can't hide a very inept football team that doesn't figure to change its losing ways very soon.

Senior Henry Santos labors at quarterback, but the passing game has been erratic, and the running game almost non-existent. Santos had impressive stats against Penn, completing 26 of 52 tosses for 244 yards, but what opponent is going to care when it's ahead 43-0 early in the third period? He also threw four interceptions.

The defense, if anything, is worse, despite three veteran senior linebackers, Rick Cavalli, Winslow Cervantes and Chris Guth, who rate some degree of respectability. The defensive line and the secondary are slow and unsure.

Columbia hasn't won in Palmer Stadium in 40 years. Its last victory here came in 1945, when it triumphed 32-7, defeating first-year coach Charlie Caldwell.

First-year coach Rogerson should be able to avoid a loss this Saturday. There is no reason for his players to be overconfident; Princeton has almost as much to prove as Columbia.

RAIN, WIND AND BRUINS Blow Tigers Away. The signs came early, and you knew for sure by halftime that the Princeton offense was in big trouble.

It had handled the ball for less than 20 plays in the first 30 minutes, managing just two first downs. Its total yardage gained, 75, was only 13 yards ahead of its yards penalized, 62. Brown's time of possession doubled Princeton's.

If you thought things couldn't get any worse, you were wrong. A monsoon-type rain fell during

Of all the sports events that have ever been on TV in America, which one drew the biggest audience? ... It was the 16th Super Bowl, played Jan. 24, 1982 between San Francisco and Cincinnati ... That game drew higher ratings than any other Super Bowl before or since, and it drew higher ratings than any other sports event ever on TV.

I bet you didn't know ... that you should review your health insurance program before you retire. We'll be glad to help you.

Here's an incredible football record ... Notre Dame had such great teams in 1946 and 1947 that not only didn't they lose any games, but they also were NEVER behind ANYTIME in ANY game they played! ... Imagine never being behind in any game for 2 full seasons.

Amazingly, there was once a football game when TWO touchdowns were scored AFTER the game was over! ... A player on the University of Pacific team some years ago intercepted a pass just as the final gun went off and ran for a TD ... The play was called back because of a penalty and one more play was ordered ... Again, a pass was intercepted and another touchdown scored!

the second half, negating any chance of improvement. Leading 10-0 at the intermission, Brown had all the points it needed, but managed to add an insurance score early in the fourth period.

The rain was only partially responsible for the offense's woes. The Tigers never penetrated further than Brown's 39-yard line in either half, and absorbed their first shutout since a 34-0 shellacking by Army at West Point in 1981.

Twenty-nine rushing plays netted Princeton just 63 yards; quarterback Doog Butler was eight for 19 in passing for 70 yards. There is much work to be done here. Even the return of Chris Ratliff at halfback could not spark a ground game that was stopped cold by the Bruins defense, before the heavy rain began.

In contrast, Brown got solid running from Jamie Potkul, whose 155 yards rushing was more than the Tigers' total offense. Potkul burned Princeton's defense a year ago with his outside running and he did it again. When Potkul wasn't carrying the ball, quarterback Steve Kettleberger was. He gained more than 50 yards.

The Bruins' first possession of the game ended with a missed field goal from 49 yards out, but the next time they got closer and Alex Kos booted a 30-yarder for a 3-0 lead. Those two drives consumed almost the entire first period.

Princeton managed one of its two first downs in the half on its next possession, taking the ball briefly into Brown territory before a holding call negated another first down and helped quash the opportunity to move further. Holding, clipping, and personal foul penalties hurt Princeton throughout the half.

Later in the period, Potkul and Kettleberger took Brown on a 75-yard drive that ended when Potkul smashed over from the two for the Bruins' first touchdown.

Brown had a chance to widen its lead, when it intercepted a Butler pass on the 27, but another field goal attempt failed.

The Tigers got down to the Brown 40-yard line twice in the third period, once after Anthony DiTommaso had intercepted a pass, but each time the drive stalled there. The first time Climmons was stopped for no gain on third and three, the second on third and four, Butler fumbled the snap from center and Brown recovered.

That fumble came at the start of the fourth period, and set Brown off on its final scoring drive. Kettleberger took the ball in this time, fooling the entire Tiger defense with a bootleg play from the four. The Tigers were also burned on third down conversions.

For the second week, electrical problems knocked out power, including the scoreboard. Channel 13's coverage was also interrupted for about one period of play during the third and fourth quarters.

It's become something of a bad omen for the Princeton football team. Once again both the clock and the scoreboard were not really necessary in a lopsided contest.

only goal. "We like them close," quipped Beacham. Goalie Saskia Webber, another freshman on the team, had eight saves in recording her first shutout of the season. The game was played in Newtown, Pa.

A Game in the Rain. On Friday at Hightstown in a game played in the rain, PHS and the Rams battled to a 1-1 tie after two ten-minute overtime periods failed to produce a goal.

Booie Lockwood scored for Princeton at the 8:25 mark in the third period to tie the score. Hightstown's goal came 22 seconds into the game.

Beacham described the Rams' goal as a little ironic. He explained that just before the start of the game, he had gathered his squad together and warned them, "Look, girls, we've been scored on before early in the game so let's not let that happen today."

The loss to Lawrence was similar to the Hightstown game in that it was played in a steady drizzle ("I think we were the only girls team to play that day," said Beacham) and the Cardinals scored early — 2½ minutes into the game.

With 16 minutes left to play, the score was still 1-0 so Beacham gambled. He moved Booie Lockwood, his most skillful player, from sweeper up to midfield to help bring the ball up and put a spark in the PHS offense.

"We didn't have a shot of winning if I didn't make that move," recalled Beacham. But the strategy backfired when the Cardinals scored twice in the final two minutes of the game.

"We played a good game, but Lawrence has a fine, fine team," said Beacham.

The game was played under the lights at Zimmer Field off Eggerts Crossing Road in Ewing Township.

4-DAY RAIN TRIUMPHS Over PDS Schedule. On and off rain from last Wednesday through Saturday morning took its toll on scheduled games for various Princeton Day teams last week.

The boy's soccer team played its only game last Wednesday, and probably wishes that had been cancelled. The Panthers were shut out by Hun, 2-0, despite coach Carlos Cara's attempts to put some life into the offense.

Friday's game with Solebury was cancelled, leaving the Blue and White booters to play Pingry in a contest scheduled for this past Tuesday afternoon. On Wednesday, they will play in the preliminary round of the Mercer County tournament. An away game against Peddie is set for Friday.

The girls' soccer team, which has not played since a week ago Monday, had to put off a game against George School last Friday, (it's been rescheduled for the 16th) and will next play this Friday against Peddie.

The field hockey team saw two games go down the drain, a road contest with Dwight-Englewood last Wednesday and a home contest against Saint Mary's on Friday. The Dwight contest has been rescheduled for the 18th. A new date for Saint Mary's has not been confirmed.

PDS will play three games in three days this week, starting with a road contest against Hun on Wednesday. Thursday it will meet Hamilton at home in the first round of the Mercer County Tournament, and Friday it will entertain Kent Place at home. Both prep games are important league contests.

42-8 Triumph over Nottingham Puts Little Tigers at 2-1; Hamilton High Will Be Next Opponent Saturday at 1:30

When the Princeton High football team trounced Nottingham, 42-8, last week behind the power running of Mike Riddick and a solid defensive performance, the Little Tigers had won two of their first three and had rung up 92 points to 22 for the opposition in the process. It has been a good many years since PHS has owned a 2-1 record after three games. So it was not surprising that PHS coach Bill Cirullo was asked after the Nottingham victory, "How good are you?"

"I really don't know," replied Cirullo. "I won't know until the last game of the year. We have some strong running backs and we've got some good players on the line. We've got a good football team — that's as far as I'll go — but we are not a great football team."

What Cirullo was not yet ready to concede, Nottingham coach Glenn Sliker was. "We knew they were good. But I didn't think they were that good," Sliker told reporters after the game. Playing before a sizeable homecoming crowd, the Northstars were never in the game after PHS posted two quick, first-period scores. And, in truth, the Little Tigers made it look easy. "It was much easier than I thought," agreed Cirullo. "Nottingham is a well-coached team. We were expecting a very difficult game."

Both PHS victories have come against winless teams, which may be one reason why Cirullo hesitates to assess his team's potential. Its next start will come RIDDICK ON A RAMPAGE: Although the goalpost is not in view, Princeton High power runner Mike Riddick is about to score the Little Tigers' third touchdown on this six-yard burst through a sizeable hole in the Nottingham defensive line. Riddick rushed for 182 yards and two TDs to lead PHS to a 42-8 victory.

Saturday at 1:30 against Hamilton High in Trenton. After losing their first two, the Hornets won for the first time last week with a 14-0 victory over McCorristin, the same team that PHS blitzed 43-0 in its opener two weeks ago. The loss was McCorristin's 22nd in a row. On paper, it looks like another PHS win. Cirullo, however, has been around too long to be swayed by "paper" victories. The articulate coach of the Little Tigers expects a tough game every week, no matter who he plays, says so, and prepares his team hard. Hamilton will be no exception.

Riddick Rips Nottingham. The PHS offense against Nottingham can be summed up in two words: Mike Riddick. The six-foot, 208-pound junior ripped through the Northstar defense for 182 yards on 21 carries and two touchdowns. "Our running game looked good," said Cirullo. "We made a decision early in the week that we were going to use Riddick in the power game and use Moseley a little more at fullback. It worked out well." PHS threw the ball only three times in the game. It coupled its rushing offense with a stand-out defensive performance that saw the defense score twice on a pass interception and fumble return. "We were strong through the tackles," agreed Cirullo, in citing the defensive play of the PHS line. "We had good line-backing from Moseley, Rumer and Riddick." Defensive ends Billy Scott and Pat MacKellar and Keith Webber, the latter a hulking 6-3, 235-pound presence at tackle, had Northstar quarterback Scott Turner under constant pressure. No one, however, on this Day of Defense, contributed more than Sandy Huffaker. In contrast to Webber, the scrappy senior guard weighs only 160 pounds and stands 5-8 but he was in the Nottingham backfield all the time. "Huffaker had a good game at nose guard," concurred Cirullo. "We needed some quickness there and he is the man to do that."

Riddick showed early that this was going to be his day. He carried on the first three running plays in the game, the third covering 42 yards to the Nottingham five. Rob Bosley went over standing up for Princeton's first score before the game was two minutes old, and John Lyons added the first of six perfect extra-point kicks.

Bosley, who was to leave the game in the second quarter with an ankle injury, made it 13-0 when he intercepted a Turner pass and returned it 18 yards for the TD.

Back to Riddick. Starting on the Northstar 42, after three tackles for losses (two by Huffaker and one by Scott) had forced Nottingham to punt on a 4-and-26, Princeton scored again in seven plays. Riddick carried on six, including the payoff carry up the middle from six yards out.

When Billy Scott picked up a mangled Northstar pitchback and waltzed into the end zone 18 yards away with less than two minutes in the half, PHS owned a 28-0 lead and the home team had turned the ball over five times.

There was no letup of Nottingham turnovers in the second half. Early in the third period, after Turner had passed for a first down at midfield, Webber stripped the ball on the next play and Vito Armenti recovered on the Nottingham 35. Riddick stiff-armed his way around end to the five and a play later fullback Chris Moseley banged up the middle on a trap to score standing up and run the score to 35-0.

An interception of a Northstar pass by Jim Lavery on the home team 30, set up Princeton's final score.

Riddick powered his way for a first down on the 20. Jim Jones carried for nine more. Riddick got a first down on the three and then crashed off tackle for the final three. With the score, Cirullo turned to his reserves.

MUDBALL: Heavy rains turned Princeton Day's field into a swamp last Saturday, but Pennington had much better success in the sloppy going than the Panthers, winning 24-0. Quarterback Lee Picariello had a good day passing, despite an occasional sack like the one here by a PDS defensive player. (Craig C. Stuart photo)

Tim Rumer made his first start at quarterback for the Little Tigers and Paul Fisher and Dave Sisson shared the spot in the second half.

Nottingham avoided a shut-out when it scored with 7:09 left in the game on a 29-yard pass from Turner to Chris Conte. John Furryk ran the ball over for the two point conversion.

Princeton's reserves, led by the running of Armenti and Rob Cifelli, had a first down on the Nottingham five and got as far as the one but were not able to punch the ball over before time ran out.

PDS IS NOW 2-2

After Pennington Loss. The eight-game schedule is already half over for the Princeton Day football team, and so far the Panthers have done as well as could be expected.

The 24-0 loss to Pennington last Saturday, coming on the heels of the 38-12 defeat by Montclair Kimberly, has dropped the Blue and White to 2-2. Two lopsided losses to be sure, but for this young squad to be at the .500 mark at this point is no small achievement.

There is no running game, leaving the fate of the offense riding on quarterback Tim Howard's right arm, and one of the squad's best two-way players, Scott Miller, has been sidelined for the season. That makes it nearly impossible for Princeton Day to knock off a team like Pennington, but it has more than held its own against lesser foes.

One of these will be in town Saturday, when the Panthers play George School at home, beginning at 2. The Pennsylvania school is winless in three contests, its latest loss coming to Jenkintown, 7-6, last weekend, when it missed a try at a two-point conversion. If PDS can put its two recent losses behind it, this is a game it can win.

The Pennington contest was not one PDS could win, either on a dry field or a sloppy one. The Raiders, who rolled to their 14th consecutive victory, had much too much going their way. This included the passing of sophomore quarterback Lee Picariello, who completed eight of 11 for 151 yards, the running of Don Sabino, and a defense that gave nothing away.

It took the visitors one quarter to settle down, but they began to make things happen in the second period. What happened was a PDS fumble on its own 25, and five plays later Picariello snuck into the end zone on fourth and one.

In the third period, Pennington added two more points on a safety, when the PDS punter was tackled in the end zone. In the fourth, Picariello connected on a 41-yard touchdown pass, and after a PDS punt was blocked, a 15-yarder.

On the other side of the ball, it was nothing but an afternoon of trouble for Howard, who had problems avoiding a strong Raider pass rush on the slippery field. He was sacked eight times, and completed just five of 14 passes for 38 yards.

PHS EDGES LAWRENCE

For First Soccer Win. It took six games to get it, but the Princeton High boys soccer team edged Lawrence, 2-1, last week for its first win of the season.

"We needed it. Our morale was so low after West Windsor," commented PHS coach Becky Mackey.

Two days earlier the Little Tigers had played poorly for three periods in bowling, 6-2, to West Windsor for their worst setback of the season.

Now a rejuvenated Little Tiger team will oppose once-defeated Hun School Friday at 3:45 at Hun in a preliminary game in the annual Mercer County tournament.

In between, PHS will host Steinert this Wednesday afternoon and travel to Ewing Tuesday for a 3:45 contest.

Friday night's game with Hightstown on Princeton University's Bedford Field was cancelled because of wet grounds. The university informed high school officials that an earlier game with Cornell had torn up the playing surface and it had to be rolled.

Hightstown, Mackey revealed, had offered their field, but the Little Tigers turned it down.

preferring not to lose a home-game advantage.

As a consequence, Princeton High's lone night game on Bedford Field has been reset for October 24 when the Little Tigers will entertain Nottingham.

Leschly Scores. Stig Leschly scored in the first period for PHS against Lawrence on a cross from Jamie Womack. Deron Elliott added his sixth goal 15 minutes into the second period as PHS took a 2-0 lead and was able to make it stand up during some rough play in the second half.

PHS was forced to play the final nine minutes one man short, after one of its players was red-carded. "You can imagine where the hall was," commented Mackey.

Mackey reported there was a lot of shoving and tripping in the second half. "I thought the refs let the game get away. There were some hard feelings at the end. Lawrence," she noted, "is not used to losing." Lawrence, a perennial power, has won only two of its first six games under new coach Sam Cacallori. Joe Bem-bry scored the Cardinals' lone goal in the final period and goalie Dan Toto had seven saves.

PHS goalie Mike Hunn-ingham was a wall in front of the PHS net with 23 saves. "The defense played well," said Mackey. She cited the play of Josh Teweles who was cleated under the lip, requiring 11 sutures, and that of stopper Andy Hewson.

HUN FOOTBALL THURSDAY Maryland Team Here. From the beginning, Hun football coach Bill Quirk did not like that open date in the middle of the season.

From past experience, Quirk said he noted that when there was a break in the schedule the players tended to take a break, too. Last week, he watched his team lose its third in a row, a 13-0 verdict to Academy of New Church, in its home opener. He feels the team needs to play every week to try to correct the mistakes it is making.

Quirk, who also serves as Hun's Athletic Director, was able to fill this week's open date by scheduling a game with West Nottingham Academy from Maryland. The game will be played Thursday at 3:30 on Hun's field.

Nottingham, reports Quirk, operates out of a wishbone offense. "You don't see that a lot in high school," observed Quirk. "You need two good backs to make it work, so they must have a good team to run it."

The only area team that Nottingham has played, reports Quirk, has been George School. Nottingham won that game, 13-9.

Weather a Factor. Saturday's game with visiting Bryn Athyn was a sloppy one, Quirk said — not the play, but the wet and slippery field conditions which raised hob with both teams.

"The weather was definitely a factor," maintained Quirk. "Neither team moved the ball that well; it came down to whoever got a score on the board was going to win."

New Church scored first in the second quarter on an

Singles Tournament Set

The 17th annual Mercer County Women's Singles Championship will be held this month at the Mercer County Indoor Tennis Courts in West Trenton.

Any Mercer County resident is eligible and may register by calling 883-0256 or 883-5768. The entrance fee is $5 and a can of Slazenger balls.

The opening round matches will start Oct. 19.

18-yard pass play (NC quarterback Matt Asplund) threw a nice pass, agreed Quirk) and after the teams battled evenly the rest of the way, the visitors added an insurance TD in the final period.

Hun was forced to go without two starters. End and defensive back Nick Miller was out having his nose repaired. It was broken in the season's second game with Newark Academy. He'll be lost for two games.

"That was an offensive and defensive position that had to be filled," said Quirk. Hun had to fill another slot in the backfield when defensive back Andy Monfried was sidelined with a shoulder injury.

"I thought our kids played well," summed up Quirk. "I saw some things I liked and some others that we still need to work on."

In the end, the Raiders, he added, hurt themselves. "We'd get a big run and then we would be hit with a penalty. It was another week of stopping ourselves, of putting ourselves in a hole."

Despite the loss and lack of any consistent offense (four TDs in four games) Quirk reported the players are not down.

"They are hungry for another win. They won their first game and they want to win again."

Quirk reported the players held a team meeting after the loss to Bryn Athyn and analyzed what had to be done.

"Then I met with them and we got together and talked. We are going to do what has to be done."

CRUCIAL WEEK AHEAD

For Hun School Booters. Continuing to impress its opponents — and maybe even itself — the Hun School soccer team blanketed Princeton Day School, 2-0, and defeated Montgomery High, 4-2, earlier to raise its record to 7-1.

"It's been going well," agreed second-year coach Dave Potter. "but we should know a lot more by the end of next week."

In back-to-back games, Hun will play an always-strong Lawrenceville School on Wednesday and was scheduled to oppose Pennington School the previous day. Both represented as strong a test as Hun will face all season.

On Friday, Hun will host Princeton High School at 3:30 in a preliminary round contest in the annual Mercer County Tournament.

Dan Blank scored unassisted in the second period and senior midfielder Tom Jingoli added another goal in the third off an assist from Deonte Monyoukaye to pace Hun past PDS. Goalie Ed Belmont had seven saves for the shutout.

Against Montgomery, Hun vaulted to a 4-0 lead, led by its high-scoring Monyoukaye who had a goal and two assists. Deron Strickman-Levitas, David Lim and Blank also scored for the victors.

PHS SET TO DEFEND

Mercer County Net Crown. Princeton High School will be the defending champion when the annual Mercer County tournament gets underway this Wednesday at the Mercer Park Courts.

The Little Tigers edged Princeton Day School, 3-2, in the finals last fall, but even PHS coach Bill Humes acknowledges that the experienced Panther team will be the team to beat this year.

The semifinals will be played Thursday and the championship round on Friday.

matches with Lawrence and Hightstown were the victims of poor playing conditions caused by last week's wet weather, and will be rescheduled.

The one match PHS did play against Montgomery High ended in a 2-2 tie. It had, in Humes' view, an abrupt — and suspicious — ending.

The quick ending came with the score tied 2-2, and Gail Ellis playing Montgomery's Valery Herrington in the decisive match. Ellis lost the first set, 5-7, won the second in a tie-breaker, 7-6, and was leading in the third, 4-3. Humes picks up the story.

"Without consulting me — or Gail — the Montgomery coach called it off," reported Humes. His reason: because of darkness. But Humes insists there were at least 15 minutes of light left at the time.

The real reason, Humes conjectured, is that Montgomery wanted to avoid a defeat and fall below the .500 level and thus fail to qualify for the state tournament. The match between Ellis and Herrington is to be played off at a later date, but Humes said this week that he isn't so sure now that it will be rescheduled.

Montgomery had won both singles matches, as Cindy Bailey lost the first singles in three sets, 5-7, 6-4, 2-6, and Sara Pickens was a 3-6, 5-7 loser at second singles.

The Little Tigers evened that match by capturing both doubles.

Lulu Bradford and Debbie Lee won, 6-4, 6-2, while Barbara Goida and Becky Peoples were extended to three sets, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

PHS VS. EWING

In Field Hockey Tournament. A Princeton High field hockey team struggling to get its offense untracked, will oppose Ewing this week in the preliminary round of the annual Mercer County Tournament.

The game has to be played by Saturday, reported Joyce Jones, coach of the Little Tigers, who are scheduled to play Steinert this Wednesday and Monroe on Thursday, both away.

The exact date had not been set yet at the start of the week. Since Monroe is not a league contest, Jones said that it might have to be cancelled in favor of the tournament game.

When it is played, the game will be held at the PHS field at Community Park. PHS is seeded sixth, the Blue Devils 11th.

"I don't believe in seedings," commented Jones. "It's not where you're seeded, it's how you perform."

Once again last week, the Little Tigers, the defending Group 3 state champions, were unable to get their offense in gear.

They dropped a 2-1 decision to Hightstown Friday, and trailed throughout the contest until Tory Crimmins scored with 10 minutes left to avert a shutout. The loss left PHS all even at 2-2-1.

"We didn't do well as far as shots on goal," admitted Jones. "Remember, we lost all our top scorers from last year. So whoever wants to take over that new responsibility, the role is open for someone to take charge."

"We played well, considering the playing conditions," continued Jones, "but it seems like we didn't get our momentum going until after we were scored upon. That seems to be our pattern."

Hightstown's Shanna Hyman scored four minutes into the game to give the Rams an early lead, and then scored again 2½ minutes into the second half, as the home team increased its record to 4-1-1.

Jones singled out the defensive play of senior link Leslie Huckins, who had a number of key interceptions. This is Huckins' first year on the varsity.

She also cited the steady play of veteran goalie Caylyn Tobin who had five saves. Ram goalie Ann Vandermark had two saves, as Hightstown outshot PHS, 15-6.

PRINCETON TOO FAST
For Hightstown in Cross Country. In Monday's showdown meeting between unbeaten Hightstown and unbeaten Princeton High, the Little Tiger cross country team proved to have too much depth for the visiting Rams. PHS won the confrontation, 26-30, and swamped McCorristin, 15-50, in a tri-meet held at Princeton High's 3.1 mile course. The win increased the Little Tigers' record to 7-0 overall.

With Hightstown behind them, the Little Tigers seem to be a sure bet to win the CVC Valley Division title.

Princeton's next test will come Tuesday in a tri-meet with Trenton and Lawrence at Princeton.

Hightstown's Phil Schatz posted Monday's best time of 16:41 — one second faster than the 16:42 of Princeton's Nathaniel McVey-Finney who passed third-place Kevin Thorn (16:43) of Hightstown in the last 50 yards.

The Nyhan brothers, John and Sean, of PHS came in fourth and fifth respectively with times of 16:56 and 16:58. Princeton's Andrew Fernandez finished seventh in 17:18 and teammate John Clark ran a 17:45 for eighth place.

Other finishers for PHS were Dariush Moghanaki (10th), Galen Woelk (12th) and Mark Wellman (13th).

The PHS victory ended a 19-meet win streak for the Rams, who were 14-0 last year.

PHS has never had an unbeaten season in cross country but 1985 may be the year of the Little Tigers.

PHS Girls Win Again. Although the PHS girls cross country team has run in only half as many meets, their record, like the boys', is perfect.

Led again by Eva Klohnen, the girls defeated Hightstown easily, 15-50, for their third straight victory.

Princeton swept the first seven places with Klohnen posting a 20:18. Karin Swartz was second in 21:07 and Adele Riddle third in 21:19.

The next four finishers for PHS were Sarah Doig, Janine Barnshaw, Katrina Strathman and Lara Farmanfarman.

PHS BOYS BLANKED, 5-0

In Soccer. Princeton High failed in its bid to make it two wins in a row in boys soccer Monday when it was shut out by Trenton, 5-0.

Trailing 1-0 at halftime, the Little Tigers allowed four Trenton goals in the third period to take themselves out of contention. For the home team Tornados it was their third win in seven outings; PHS dropped to 1-5-1.

GRADES 5-8 ELIGIBLE

For Platform Tennis Program. An instructional and intra-mural program in platform tennis for youths in grades 5-8 will begin October 24. Sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, which is now taking reservations, the program will be held Thursdays from 4:30-6 and run through December 19.

The fee for Princeton residents is $5; for non-residents attending a Princeton school, $10.

The Recreation Department will also offer beginner clinics for platform tennis players who wish to learn or polish their skills. They will be held Oct. 15 and 17 at 7:30 p.m. and Oct. 16 at 10:30 a.m.
